TO THE
Ingenious and Courteous READER.

Reader,

IT being at first the general Good which caused us to publish this useful and compleat piece, we could not chuse but for the same end give it a new Birth, especially when we heard that we had so well attained what we sought, in regard of the Benefit which so many have received from these, which we shall now rather call Experiments than Receipts contained therein. In short, we may say that it hath had a general reception, travelling up and down the Kingdoms, and like the good Samaritan giving Comfort to all it met; neither have we known of any that have bought it, who have not testified their high Esteem thereof. And indeed, how should it otherwise be, knowing out of what Laboratories it was produced? Nor is it without its Variety; here preserving the Fruits of the Earth with such a curious neatness, as if it would shew, that though Summer gave those pleasant

Fruits, yet that Art is able to make Winter richer than her self: or if this will not please, teaching you to furnish the Tables of Princes, with such a Grandezza as befits them. But as for the Physical part, what can be more noble than that which gives the Rich such an opportunity of spending upon good Works, while they succour the Poor, and give Comfort to them in their greatest Distresses. If we have given it too narrow a Praise (for too large an Encomium, I am sure, we cannot attribute to it, considering its true Value;) it is not what we intended, though we are glad to see its own high Deserts carrying it so much above the reach of a more than common Repute. 'Tis true, there may be some Faults, and those may justly cause us to be blamed; but now we hope your Ingenuity will the rather forgive us and them, and with more diligence seek to amend what is amiss; if not for our sakes, yet out of Charity to a Work which is so Charitable to your selves.

THE QUEEN'S CABINET Opened :

O R,

The Pearl of Practice.

Accurate, Physical, and Chyrurgical
R E C E I P T S.

Dr. Butler's Preservative against the Plague.

Take Wood-Sorrel and pick it from the stalk, and pound it very well in a stone Mortar, then take to every pound of beaten Sorrel a pound of Sugar finely beaten, and two ounces of Mithridate, beat them very well together, and put them in pots for your use.
Take

2 The Pearl of Practice. Choice

Take every morning before and after the Infection for some time together of this Conserve as much as a Walnut.

Dr. Butler's Cordial Water.

TAKE Pimpernel, Carduus, Angelica, Scordium, Soabious, Dragon, and still these severally in a Rose Still; and when you have a pint of the water of every of these sorts of Herbs, then mingle all these together very well, and dissolve it in half a pound of Venice Treacle, then still all these together, and mingle the stronger water with the small; six spoonfuls of this Water made Blood warm, given to one sick of the Plague, driveth all Venom from the heart. It is excellent, so used, for the Small Pox, or for any pestilent Fever.

Dr. Butler's purging Ale:

TAKE of Sarsaparilla two ounces, of Polypody of the Oak and Sena, of each four ounces, Caraway-seed and Anniseed, of each half an ounce, Liquorish two ounces, Maidenhair and Agrimony of each one little handful, Scurvygrass half a bushel; beat all these grossly, and put them into a coarse Canvas-bag, and hang it into three gallons of strong Ale; when it is three days old drink it.

Dr.

Physical and Chirurgical Receipts. 3

Dr. Giffords Amber Pills for a Consumption:

TAKE of Venice Turpentine one ounce washed, and six grains of the powder of white Amber, mix them together, and set them in a clean pot upon Embers, and let it not stand too hot; to try whether it be enough, take a drop, and let it cool; if after it is cold it be stiff, and will not cleave to the finger, it is enough: Then take of the Powders of Pearl, White Amber, and Coral, of each a quantity, as a quarter of an ounce of the inner bark of an Oak, a quarter of an ounce of Cinnamon and Nutmegs, of each as much, and three ounces of hard white Sugar; make all these into a powder, and seeth them, and put the Pills into them; before you take them, you must be well purged, after which you must take three of the aforesaid Pills wrapped up in the powder, what else you will, and in the morning take the yolk of a new laid Egg warmed a little, and put into it as much of the Powder as will lye on a shilling, and sup it off; let this be used some time together, and there will be great benefit found by it.

R

4 The Pearl of Practice. Choice

To comfort the Heart and Spirits, and to suppress Melancholy.

TAKE of the juyces of Borage and Bugloss, of each one pint and a half, juyce of Pippins, or Queen Apples one pint, juyce of balm half a pint, clarify them, then take Cochenel made into powder four drams, infuse it in the said juyces being cold in an earthen pan for two days, stirring it often, then strain it, and with four pound of powder Sugar (or two pound if you mean not to keep it long) boyl it to a Syrup, then take it off, and when it is almost cold, put to it Diamargaritum Frigidum one dram and a half, Diambra four scruples. Take thereof a spoonful or two for many mornings together, and when you awake in the night, if there be cause; you may also add to some part of it Saffron to make it more Cordial, by putting some powder of Saffron in a linnen cloth tyed up, and so milking it out into a syrup, let the substance thereof remain in the cloth, and take thereof sometimes. Approved.

Physical and Chirurgical Receipts. 5

A Cordial Eleatuary for stuffing of the Stomach, or shortness of breath.

TAKE a pint of the best Honey, set it on the fire, and scum it clean, then put to it a bundle of Hyssop, bruised small before you tie it up; let it boyl well till the Honey taste of the Hyssop, then strain out the Honey very hard, and put to it the powder of Angelica Roots, the weight of six-pence, powder of Elecampane root, the weight of six-pence, Ginger, and Pepper, of each the weight of two pence, Liquorish and Anniseed of each the weight of eight pence, all beaten very small severally; put all these into the strained Honey, and let them boyl a little space, stirring them well together all the time, then take them from the fire, and pour all into a clean gally-pot, stirring it always till it be through cold, and keep it close covered for your use. When any are troubled with stuffing at the stomach, or shortness of breath, let them take of this Eleatuary, with a bruised Liquorish stick, and they shall sensibly find much good by it. This was Queen Elizabeths Eleatuary for these Infirmities.

6 The Pearl of Practice. Choice

Mr. Covets Medicine for the Palsie.

TAKE a pint of the strongest Mustard, set it in an Oven for two or three times, till it be as thick as a hasty pudding, the Oven must not be too hot to burn it: Then set it on a chafindish of coles till it be dry enough to make into powder. Take half an ounce of Betony powder, and mix it with the said powder, and sweeten it with Sugar-candy to your taste. Take of this every morning for ten days. Approved.

A Receipt to help Digestion.

TAKE two quarts of small Ale, put to it red Minis one handful, as much of red Sage, a little Cinamon; let it boyl softly till half be wasted, sweeten it with Sugar to your taste, and drink thereof a draught Morning and Evening.

A singular Cordial.

TAKE two ounces of dried red Gilly-flowers, and put them into a pottle of Sack, put to it three ounces of fine Sugar in powder, and half a scruple of Ambergreece in powder; put all these in a stone bottle, stop

Physica and Chirurgical Reccipts. 7

stop it close with a strong cork, and shake it oft. After it hath stood ten days, pass it through a Jelly bag, and give two or three spoonfuls of it for a great Cordial. This way you may also make Lavender Wine for the Palsie; and other Diseases.

Dr. Bassa an Italian. An approved Receipt to break the Stone in the Kidneys.

IN the Month of May distill Cowdung, then take two live Hares, and strangle them in their blood; then take the one of them, and put it into an earthen vessel or pot, and cover it well with a mortar made of Horsedung and Hay, and bake it in an Oven with household bread, and set it still in an Oven two or three days, baking it anew with any thing, untill the Hare be baked or dried to powder; then beat it well, and keep it for your use. The other Hare you must flea, and take out the guts only; then distill all the rest, and keep this water: Then take at the new and full of the Moon, or any other time, three mornings together as much of this powder as will lie on a sixpence, with two spoonfuls of each water, and it will break any Stone in the Kidneys.

Dr. Bassa's Remedy for a bloody Urine, or to Break a stone in the Bladder,

TAKE the water of distilled Saxifrage, Coriander, Parsly, and cod of Broom when they be green, the Berries of white Thorn stilled when they be ripe; they must be stamped stones and all, and then distilled; the green hulls of Walnuts, when they be ripe stilled, Raisins of the Sun stilled; every one of these waters must be stilled by it self. Then take an equal quantity of each, as a pint of Aqua spirita; put them all together, and still them in an ordinary still, or in B. after scum the water nine or ten days; and take of this water for ten or fifteen days, five or six spoonfuls at a time in the morning fasting, and use to take it after a day or two once in a month.

Syrup of Turnips.

FIRST bake the Turnips in a pot with household-bread, then press out the Liquor between two platters; put a pint of this Liquor to half a pint of Hyssop-water, and as much brown Sugar-candy as will sweeten it; and boyl it to the consistence of a Syrup. It is very good for a Cold or Consumption.

Syrup.

Syrup of Citron peels.

TAKE the outermost fresh peels of Citron cut in small pieces, and pour on them two quarts of Water, then wring it through a cloth; put to the Liquor one pound of powder Sugar, boyl it to a Syrup, and when it is sodden, put four grains of Musk to it, dissolved in Damask Rose-water. This Syrup cooleth not. It defendeth from the Plague.

A Cordial Syrup to cleanse the blood, open Obstructions, prevent a Consumption, &c.

TAKE Rosemary flowers, Betony, Clove-gilly-flowers, Borrage, Broom, Cow-slip flowers, red Rose leaves, Melilot, Comfrey, Clary, Pimpernel-flowers, of each two ounces, red Currants four pounds; infuse all these into six quarts of Claret Wine, put to it fourteen pound of ripe Elder-berries, make the wine scalding hot, then put in the flowers, Currants, and Elder-berries, cover the pot, and paste it very close, set it in a Kettle of warm water to infuse forty eight hours, till the vertue of the ingredients be all drawn out, then press it out hard, and put to every pint of liquor one pound and three quarters of powder sugar, boyl and scum it till you find the syrup thick enough; when it is cold, bottle it, and keep it for your use. Take two spoonfuls in a morning, and so much in the afternoon, fasting two hours after it.

A Medicine for a Dropsie, approved by the Lady Hobby, who was cured her self by it.

TAKE Caraways, Smallage, Thyme, Hyssop, Watercresses, Pennyroyal, Nettle tops, Calamint, Elecampane roots, of each one little handful, Horse-radish two pounds, boyl them in six quarts of running water, until half be consumed: Then strain it, boyl it a new with a pottle of Canary Sack, Liquorish twelve ounces, sweet Fennel-seed one ounce bruised, and a quarter of an ounce of Cummin-seed bruised; boyl all these above half an hour, then strain it, and keep it for your use, nine spoonfuls in the morning fasting, and as much at three or four a clock in the afternoon, use it for some time together. This the Lady Hobby proved by her self.

Dr. Adrian Gilberts most Sovereign Cordial Water.

TAKE Spearmint, Broom-mint, Mother of Thyme, the blossom tops of Garden-Thyme,

Physical and Chirurgical Receipts. 11

Thyme, red Penny-royal, Scabious, Celandine, Wood sorrel, Wood-betony, Angelica-leaves and stalks, Set-Wall-leaves, Peony leaves, Egrimony, Tormentil, sweet Marjoram, red Sage, Rue, Rosifolis, Angelica-roots, Elecampane-roots, Set-Wall-roots, green Pennyroyal, Comfrey blossoms and leaves, Juniper-berries, of each a pound; Balm, Carduus Benedictus, Dragon, Feaverfew, Wormwood, of each two pounds; steep all these in the lees of strong pure venient Clarret wine for nine days, every day twice turning, then to mingle them well in the Lees, then distill them in a Limbeck with a read clear head, with two pound of shaved Harts-horn, and Ivory, twelve ounces; draw as long of it as you may in several pottle glasses: The first is accounted the best and uncompounded, and the perfectest against the Plague, spotted Fevers and small Pox, ordinary Fevers, divers times experienced by my self, either to prevent, or in the time of these sicknesses. If you will compound it because the water hath an ill tast, then take the first gallon of the water and mix it with a pottle of the best Malaga Sack, and put into them three pounds of Raisins solia stoned, Figs one pound and a half, the flowers of Clovegilly-flowers, Cowslips and Marigolds, blue Violets, of each two pound, red Rose buds one pound, Ambergreece, Bezoar stone, clarified Sugar, Anniseeds, Liquorish, and what else you please.

These are Adrian Gilberts Receipts, having had experience of them most constantly sure. The uncompounded Water is the more excellent: And if in time of infection one take two spoonfuls of it in good Beer or white-Wine he may safely walk from danger by the leave of God. If any of the former Diseases attach any person, then he must take four ounces of the first water, and mix therewith either Syrups of Violets, Clove-gilly-flowers, or Angelica, as the Diseases is: One spoonful of the Syrup is sufficient for four ounces of the water. So take it three times.

For a swollen face.

TAKE Oyl of Elder and Plaintain water, of each one ounce, beat them well together, until they be exactly incorporated, and therewith anoint the tumified place twice or thrice in a day until the swelling be chased away.

Cock-water for a Consumption.

TAKE a running Cock, pull him alive, then kill him, cut him abroad by the back, back, take out the entrails and wipe him clean, then quarter him and break his bones, then put him into a Rose-water still with a pottle of Sack, Currants, and Raisins of the Sun stoned, and figs sliced, of each one pound, Dates stoned, and cut small half a pound, Rosemary flowers, wild Time, Spearmint of each one handful, Organs or wild Marjoram, Bugeloss, Pimpinell, of each two handfuls, and a pottle of new milk from a red Cow, Distill these with a soft fire, put into the Receiver a quarter of a pound of brown Sugarcandy beaten small, four grains of Ambergreece, forty grains of prepared Pearl, and half a book of leaf gold cut very small; you must mingle the strong water with the small, and let the Patient take two spoonfuls of it in the morning, and as much at going to bed.

A precious Cordial for a sick Body.

TAKE three spoonfuls of Mint-water, and as much of Muscadine, and wormwood water, two or three spoonfuls of fine Sugar, and two or three drops of Cinnamon spirit; beat these well together with two or three spoonfuls of Clove-gilly-flowers spirit, and give the Patient now and then one spoonful

14 The Pearl of Practice. Choice
ful thereof; especially when he or she goeth to bed.

Worm wood Cakes good for a cold stomach, and to help Digestion.

TAKE pure scarced Sugar two ounces,
and wet it with the Spirit of Wormwood; then take a little Gum Tragacanth, and steep it all night in Rose-water, then take some of this and the wet Sugar and beat them together in an Alabaster Mortar till it come to a paste like dough, if you please put a little Musk to it, then make it up in little cakes of the breadth of a groat or three-pence; lay them upon plates, and dry them gently in an Oven, and keep them in a dry place for your use: And upon occasion hold one of them in your mouth to melt, and swallow the dissolved juyce thereof for the infirmities aforesaid.

To make water of life.

TAKE Balm-leaves and stalks, Burnet-leaves and flowers, Rose-mary, red Sage, Taragon, Tormentil-leaves, Rosa solis, red Roses, Carnation, Hyssop, Thyme, red strings that grow upon Savory, red Fennelleaves

leaves and roots, red Mint, of each one handful; bruise these Herbs and put them in a great earthen pot, and pour on them as much white-wine as will cover them, stop them close, and let them steep for eight or nine days, then put to it Cinnamon, Ginger, Angelica-seeds, Cloves and Nutmegs, of each one ounce, a little Saffron, Sugar one pound, Raisins Solis stoned one pound, Dates stoned and sliced half a pound, the loins and legs of an old Coney, a fleshy running Capon, the red flesh of the sinews of a Leg of Mutton, four young Chickens, twelve Larks, the yolks of twelve Eggs, a loaf of white bread cut in sops, and two or three ounces of Michridate or Treacle, and as much Bastard or Musca-dine as will cover them all, distill all with a moderate fire and keep the first and second waters by themselves; and when there comes no more by distilling, put more Wine into the Pot upon the same stuff and distill it again and you shall have another good water.
This water must be kept in a double glass close stopped very carefully. It is good against many infirmities, as the Dropsie, Pallie, Ague, Sweating, Spleen, Worms, Yellow and Black Jaundies; it strengthneth the Spirits, Brain, Heart, Liver and stomach. Take two or three spoonfuls when need is by it self self: Or with Ale Beer, or ~~Wine~~ mingled, with Sugar.

Dr. Atkinson his excellent perfume against the Plague.

TAke Angelica roots and dry them a very little in an Oven, or by the fire and then bruise them very soft, and lay them in Wine-Vinegar to steep, being close covered three or four days, and then heat a brick hot and lay the same thereon every morning, this is excellent to air the house or any cloaths, or to breath over in the morning fasting.

To make a Saffron water.

TAke seven quarts of white-wine, and infuse in it all night one ounce of Saffron dryed, and in the morning distill it in a Limbeck or glass body with a head, and put some white Sugarcandy finely beaten into the receiver for it to drop on.

Mr. Stepkin's Water for the Eyes.

TAke four ounces of white Rose-water,
and two drams of Tutia, in powder, shake them well together in a glass vial, and drop it a little into the eyes evening and a string about the Cork, into which put five pints of pure Oyl Olive, and three pints of Spring-water; boyl this half a quarter of an hour, then melt eight ounces of yellow wax in a Skillet, which put to the Turpentine in the Pot; take it off the Fire, and stir them together with a spoon till they be well mingled, then pluck the Cork out of the earthen Pot, and let out all the Water in a Platter, and the Oyl and the Turpentine into the Wax in a large Bason, and set them over the Fire, stirring them well; then pour all out into a large Earthen Pan, and when it is thorow cold melt it again on the Fire, so that it will slip out, then pour out the Water in the bottom, and melt it again on the Fire, stirring all well together, and so put it up into Gallypots for your use, and you have a most excellent Balsam made by decoction, whose effects follow.

The Vertues of it.

1. It is good for any inward Wound squirted warm into it, and outwardly to it on fine lint, and anointing the place. It also preserves the wound from inflammation and putrefaction,

2. It heals any Bruise or Cut, being first anointed therewith, and then a piece of lint dipped in it, and laid to the place.

Physical and Chirurgical Receipts. 107

3. It cures all Burnings and Scaldings.

4. It helps the Headach, anointing the Nostrils and Temples therewith.

5. It expelleth the Wind-Cholick, or Stuch in the side, being anointed and apply'd four mornings with warm clothes, and every morning bathing it before the fire a quarter of an hour.

6. It helps a Surfeit, taking one ounce thereof in warm Sack.

7. It preserveth from the Plague, only by anointing the lips and nostrils therewith before the party goeth abroad in the morning.

8. It is good against Cancers and Worms applied as before for a Cut.

9. It helps digestion, and keepeth from Vermin, if the Navel or Stomach be anointed therewith before the party goeth to bed.

The Operator that made it healed himself, being sorely scalded.

To cure the Rickets in Children. Approved.

TAKE a quart of new Milk, put into it one handful of Sanicle, boil it half away, and give it to the Patient Child to drink in the morning for a Breakfast, and let it not eat any thing for an hour or two after it, and at night take a quart of Milk, and one handful of red Mints, boil it half away as before, and let the Child eat it last at night. This continue for a month or longer, as occasion is. This quantity of milk so made will serve for twice.

An Unguent to anoint the Ricketed Childs Breast.

TAKE fresh Butter, Sanicle, red Mints, of each one pound, stamp the herbs very small, then mix it with the Butter to a perfect Unguent, and therewith anoint the Childs Breast every morning and evening before the fire; you must anoint it from arm to arm, that it may open the breast; and also anoint the Gullet-bones, that they may open, for in this Disease they will seem to close.

To anoint the Ricketed Childs Limbs, and to recover it in a short time, though the Child be so lame as to go upon Crutches.

TAKE a peck of Garden-snails and bruise them, put them in a course Canvas Bag, and hang it up, and set a dish under it to receive the liquor that droppeth from them, therewith anoint the Child in every Joint which you perceive to be weak before the fire every morning and evening. This I have known made a Child that was extream weak to go alone, using it only a weeks time.

A Plaster for an Ague.

TAKE strong Leaf Tobacco six drams, Currans a small handful, and as much Boar's grease as will make it into a Salve, by beating and stamping together in a Mortar of Stone; when it is beaten to a salve take two pieces of Sheeps Leather, and spread the salve an inch thick on both of them, and lay them upon the veins of both wrists twenty four hours before the fit cometh. This will cure either a quartan or a tertian Ague.

A dainty cooling Drink for a Fever.

TAKE French Barley one ounce, boil it first in a quart of fair water a good while, then shift it, and boil it in another quart of water a good while, shift it again, and boil it in a pottle of running spring water to a quart, then take two ounces of sweet Almonds, lay them to soak all night, then stamp and strain them into the last Barley-water; put to it four spoonfuls of Damask Rose-water, the Juice of one Lemon, and with Sugar sweeten it to your taste, drink this often in the night, or when you are dry or hot.

ther, if you cannot have green Fumitory, use it dry.

Paracelsus his Plaister called Emplastrum Fodicationum Paracelli, good for many Diseases herein mentioned; translated out of Latine into English,

TAKE of the four Gums, that is to say, Galbanum, Opoponax, of each one dram, Ammoniacum, and Bdellium, of each two drams, let them be beaten very small, and put them in an earthen pot leaded or glazed, pouring upon the same very good Vinegar of Wine, and let them so remain a day and night, then boyl them in the same Vinegar upon a great fire, that the Gums may melt, and when they be thoroughly melted, pour out the same hot into a bag, wring or press the same, that they may be well cleansed from the dregs, which dregs must be cast away, take the said Liquor so strained out, and let it boyl till the Vinegar be wasted, and utterly evaporated; in the boyling you must continually stir it without ceasing, lest the Gums be burned, keep this very clean and covered, that nothing fall into it, then take Oyl-Olive two pound, new Wax half a pound, and let them be put into an earthen pot, well leaded or glazed of a sufficient bigness, set the same on a fire of coals, and let them melt at leisure; at the length put into it a pound and a half of Lithargy beaten into very fine powder, stirring it continually with a stick or Spatula by little and little until it be thoroughly mixt together, and the matter be a tawny colour; afterwards take the aforesaid Gums that were first boyled, and put the quantity of a nut into the said matter, and so by little and little, at several times, put into it such a like quantity of the Gums at each time, till the Gums be all put in, and mix well with the other things, and melted. And you must take more withal, lest the matter be overmuch heated, and boyl over and run into the fire, for it is very hot of it self; afterwards put in the things following into it; of the two kinds of Arifolochia rotunda, Calaminaris, Myrrhe and Frankincense, of each one dram, beat them into fine powder, that are to be made into powder, and put them into the said matter, and pour on it one dram of Oyl of Bays, and put therein lastly four drams of white Turpentine, boyl them and stir them about continually with careful dilligence, and when you will know when the it be sufficiently sodden, put a little thereof thereof into cold water, and if it be not so soft that it cleave to your fingers, it is well, otherwise it must boyl longer, then take it from the fire, and pour it into a bason full of water, and when it is well cooled, that you may handle it, anoint your hand with Oyl of Camomile or Roses, and kneed it well three or four hours, and lay it up in a cleansed vessel, it will last above fifty years and be then as good as at the first day it was made.

G 3 well

The Virtue of the Emplaister out of Paracelsus:

IT is good for old or new sores; it drieth, cleanseth, and breedeth good flesh, it confirmeth and comforteth, it healeth more in a week than other in a month, it will not suffer any sore to putrefie or corrupt, or any dead or evil flesh to grow; for Sinews cut, bruised, or pricked with a Thorn, or otherwise, it is most excellent; it draweth out of Wounds, Iron, Wood or Lead, and other the biting of venomous Beasts; it causeth all kind of imposthumes, or Biles to ripen, if it be laid thereon; and it is most excellent against the Canker and Fistula, the Shingle or Saint Antonies fire; and also a soveraign and speedy help against all pains, to assuage all aches, and for all kind

of wounds; also I Thomas Porter have found
often experience, it is singular, and special help for bones out of joynt, by laying
one or two plaisters, or three at the most:
I have healed in fourteen days Arms out
of joynt, so that those parties have said
they have had no pain nor weakness after.
Also for thrusts you must not tent them, unless they matter before you come to them,
but only lay of this over it, and two Plaisters is commonly sufficient to heal it, or any other sore or swelling; but if dead flesh
be in a sore before this Plaister be laid on,
it will not destroy it, but it must be plucked
out; but if it find none it will suffer none
to breed. When you lay up this Plaisters, put it in oyled Paper or oyled Leather, or both, it will keep it the better from over-
much drying, and you must lay it out of the Sun and Wind.

thereof into cold water, and if it be not so soft that it cleave to your fingers, it is well, otherwise it must boyl longer, then take it from the fire; and pour it into a bason full of water, and when it is well cooled, that you may handle it, anoint your hand with Oyl of Camomile or Roses, and kneed it well three or four hours, and lay it up in a cleansed vessel, it will last above fifty years and be then as good as at the first day it was made.

The Virtue of the Emplaster out of Paracelsus:

IT is good for old or new sores; it drieth, cleanseth, and breedeth good flesh, it confirmeth and comforteth, it healeth more in a week than other in a month, it will not suffer any sore to putrefie or corrupt, or any dead or evil flesh to grow; for Sinews cut, bruised, or pricked with a Thorn, or otherwise, it is most excellent; it draweth out of Wounds, Iron, Wood or Lead, and other the biting of venomous Beasts; it causeth all kind of imposthumes, or Biles to ripen, if it be laid thereon; and it is most excellent against the Canker and Fistula, the Shingle or Saint Antonies fire; and also a soveraign and speedy help against all pains, to assuage all aches, and for all kind

 of wounds; also I Thomas Porter have found
 often experience, it is singular, and special help for bones out of joynt, by laying
 one or two plaisters, or three at the most:
 I have healed in fourteen days Arms out
 of joynt, so that those parties have said
 they have had no pain nor weakness after.
 Also for thrusts you must not tent them, unless they matter before you come to them,
 but only lay of this over it, and two Plaisters
 is commonly sufficient to heal it, or any other sore or swelling; but if dead flesh
 be in a sore before this Plaister be laid on,
 it will not destroy it, but it must be plucked
 out; but if it find none it will suffer none
 to breed. When you lay up this Plaisters,
 put it in oyled Paper or oyled Leather, or
 both, it will keep it the better from over-
 much drying, and you must lay it out of
 the Sun and Wind.

then let it boyl again for a short space, take it off the fire, and stir it well for the space of two hours, that it may become thick, and when it is cold put it up in several Gally-pots, and when you use it apply it tented into a deep and hollow wound; if it be only a slight cut, anoint the wound with it, and bind it fast on with the cloth.

A Purge by Dr. Mayhern.

TAKE of the best Sena six drams, Rhubarb two drams, Cream of Tartar half a dram, of sweet Fennel-seed as much, and a little Cinnamon; infuse all these one night in half a pint of Whitewine; in the morning let it boyl one walm or two, strain it, and put of the best Manna an ounce, dissolve it over the fire, then strain it again, then put to it an ounce of Salatine, Syrup of Roses, so drink it, fast two hours after from Meat and Drink and Sleep, and then drink nothing but thin Broth.

An approved Medicine to beautifie the Face, or to take away Pimples or Heat in the Face.

TAKE a fair earthen Pipkin, and put into a pottle of clear running water, and an ounce of white Mercury beaten to white powder, then set it on the fire,

154 The Pearl of Practice. Choice

and let it boyl until one half be consumed, and keep it close covered, saving when you stir it, then take the whites of six new-laid Eggs beaten half an hour or more, and put it into the liquor, after it is taken from the fire; you must put in also the juice of Lemons, being very good, and half a pint of new Milk, and a quarter of a pound of bitter Almonds blanched and beaten, with half a pint of Damask Rosewater; strain all these together through a strainer, and let it stand three weeks before you use it, and I will warrant you fair.

An excellent Water for the Eyes that are red or full of Rheum.

TAke young Hazel-nuts when they are so soft that you may thrust a Pin through them, still them in a Rose-still, husks, shells and all, and with the water wash your Eyes.

To cure a wound, though the Patient be never so far off.

TAke a quart of pure Spring-water, and put into it some Roman Vitriol, and let it dissolve, then if you have any Blood of the Wound either in linnen or woollen, or silk, put the cloth so blooded into the water and rub the cloth once a day, and if the wound wound be not mortal the Blood will out; if it be, it will not. Let the Patient keep his wound clean, washing it with White-wine; whenever you wash the cloth, the Party wounded shall sensibly find ease; let the cloth be constantly in the Water.

To make Oyl of Swallows.

TAke Swallows as many as you can get, ten or twelve at the least, and put them quick into a Mortar, and put to them Lavender, Cotton, Spike, Camomile, Knot-grass, Ribwort, Balm, Valerian, Rosemary-tops, Woodbine-tops, strings of Vines, French Mulberries, the tops of Aichors, Strawberry strings, Tutsane, Plantane, Walnut-leaves, tops of young Bays, Hyssop, Violet-leaves, sage of Vertue, fine Roman Wormwood, Brooklime, Smallage, Mother of Time, of each of these a handful, two of Camomile, and two of red Roses; beat all these together, and put thereto a quart of Neatsfoot-Oyl, or May Butter; stamp them all together, and beat them with one or two ounces of Cloves, and put them all together in an earthen pot, stop it very close with a piece of dough round about, so close that no air can come out; set them nine days in a Cellar, and then take them out.

156 The Pearl of Practice. Choice

and boyl them six or eight hours on the fire, or else in a pan of water ; but first open your pot, and put in half a pound of Wax, white or yellow whether you will, and a pint of sallad-Oyl, and strain them through a canvas cloth.

To make Lead-Plaister.

TAke two pound and four ounces of the best and greenest sallad-Oyl, with a pound of good red Lead, and a pound of white Lead, beat them well into dust, then take twelve ounces of Castile-soap ; incorporate all these well together in a well-glased and great earthen pot, that the the soap may come upwards ; set it on a small fire of Coals the space of an hour and a half, always stirring it with an Iron Ball or round Pummel ; then make your fire somewhat bigger until it be the colour of Oyl, then drop a little on the Board, and if it cleave neither to your finger nor the board, then it is enough ; then take the cloaths and make them into what breadth or size you please in scarloth ; let not your cloth be coarse, but of a reasonable new Holland, and when you have dipped them, then rub them with a slick stone, it will last two years, and the older the better, as long as it will stick is good.

The

6. The same laid to the Head, is good for the Eyes.
7. The same laid to the Belly of a Woman, provoketh the Terms, and makes apt for Conception.

For the Stone and Gravel.

TAke and dry the roots of red Nettles, make them into powder, and drink a spoonful of powder in a draught of White-wine somewhat warm, and it will break the Stone

158 The Pearl of Practice. Choice

Stone though it be never so great, with speed use it every day until the Stone and Gravel be all broken and consumed. A thing of small price, and great vertue.

A Drink to purge the Body, being very good for them that have the Scurvey, or are inclined to it.

Take a pottle of fine running water, and a pint of Rhenish Wine for a young body, and for an elder take a quart, set it on the fire, put into it three or four slices of Horse radish, a great handful of Water-creffis and a handful of Brooklime, both a little bruised, slice in two or three Oranges, outsidcs and insides, let them boyl all together better then half an hour, then have ready a greater quantity of Scurvy-grass bruised, or a pint of the juyce of Scurvy grass ready strained, and put into it the liquor, and set it over the fire again, then there will arise a curd, which being taken off, put into the drink when it is cold three or four Lemons, more or less, as best pleaseth the taste, sweeten it with Sugar, and drink a Wine draught in the Morning, and at four a clock in the afternoon, and then walk and use some exercise after it. The party that hath the Scurvey, and whose legs are much swelled; may put into the drink some Juniper berries bruised, half an ounce or thereabout.

Dr.

Dr. Bates his Medicine against a Consumption.

Take Liverwort two handfuls, Succory six, Endive, Berage, Coltsfoot, of each six handfuls, shred these finely, put them in a gallon of new milk, let them steep all night, in the morning distill them in a glass still, then take three Spoonfuls of red Rose-water, three Spoonfuls of this water, with half a pint of red Cows-Milk and as much Sugar of Roses as will sweeten it.

To make G-scein Powder.

Take the black tips of Crabs Claws, when the Sun is in Cancer pick out from within them all the fish; beat them to as fine a powder as you can, then scarse it through a very fine scarse, take an ounce of this powder, and put to it half an ounce of the Magistral of Pearl, and as much of the Magistral of Coral, mix them well together, then put a little Rose-water in a glass, in which you must hang a little Saffron in a bag, and a little Musk and Ambergreece in another; let them hang in Rose-water two or three days, till the virtue of them be gone into the water, then put your powder either into a silver Porringer, or a white earthen one, and put as much of the Rose.

Rose-water as will moisten your powder, then dry it in the Porringer by a gentle fire, and so wet your powder three or four times and as often dry it, after this make a Gelly as followeth.

Take a Viper alive in May or June, cut off his head and tail, above his Navil, pull off his skin, and with a clean cloath rub it dry, and so you may hang them up, and take two of those and slice them small with a little hearts-horn, and make a Gelly of them, you need not make much; then when your powder is dry, wet it three or four times with this Gelly, and as often dry it, and at last put no more Gelly than will moisten the powder, then put it up in balls as big and as little as you please, and dry them in a Stove, and so keep them all the year.

Take of this Powder twelve or fourteen grains, either dry or in a spoonful of small Beer, in which there is a little Syrup of Clove-gilliflowers.

Certain Plaisters and their uses.

1. Emplast. Deminum two pound; it is good for all kinds of bruises or boiles, or old sores, &c.

QUEENS Delight.

Of Conserues and Preserves, candying and distilling Waters.

To preserve white Pear-Plumbs or green.

TAke the Plumbs and cut the stalk off, and wipe them, then take the just weight of them in sugar, then put them in a Skillet of water, and let them stand in and scald, being close cover'd till they be tender, they must not seeth; when they be soft lay them in a Dish and cover them with a cloth, and strew some of the sugar in the glass bottom, and put in the Plumbs, strewing the Sugar over till all be in, then let them stand all night, the next day put them into a pan, and let them boyl apace, keeping them clean scummed, and when your plums look clear, your syrup will gelly, and they are enough. If your plums be ripe, peel of the skins before you put them into the glass; they will be the better and clearer a great deal to dry, if you will take the Plums white ; if green, do them with the rinds on.

To preserve Grapes.

Take Grapes when they be almost through ripe, and cut the stalks off, and stone them in the side, and as fast as you can stone them strew Sugar on them; you must take to every pound of Grapes three quarters of a pound of Sugar; then take some of the sower Grapes, and wring the juyce of them, and put to every pound of Grapes two spoonful of juyce, then set them on the fire, and still lift up the pan and shake it round for fear of burning too, then set them on again, and when the sugar is melted, boyl them as fast as you can possibly, and when they look but very clear, and the Syrup somewat thick, they are enough.

To preserve Quinces white.

Take a pair and coar them, and to every pound of your equal weights in Sugar and Quince, take a wine pint of water; put them together, and boyl them as fast as you can uncovered; and this way you may also preserve Pippins white as you do Quin-

To preserve Respais.

Take a pound of Respais, a pound of fine Sugar, a quarter of a pint of the juyce of Respais, strew the Sugar under and above the Respais, sprinkle the juyce all on them, set them on a clear fire, let them boyl as soft as is possible, till the syrup will gelly, then take them off, let them stand till they be cold, then put them in a glasse. After this manner is the best way.

To preserve Pippins.

Take fair Pippins, and boyl them in fair water till they be somewhat tender, then take them out and peel off the skin, and put them into a fair earthen pot and cover them till they be cold, then make the Syrup with fair water and sugar; seeth it, and scum it very clean, then being almost cold, put in your Pippins, so boyl them softly together, put in as much rine of Oranges as you think will taste them, if you have no Oranges take whole Cinnamon and Cloves, so boyl them high enough to keep them all the year.

To preserve Fruits green.

Take Pippins, Apricocks, Pear-plums, or Peaches when they be green, scald them in hot water, and peel them or scrape them, put them into another water not so hot as the first, then boyl them very tender, take the weight of them in Sugar, put to it as much water as will make a Syrup to cover them; then boyl them somewhat leisurely, and take them up; then boyl the Syrup till it be somewhat thick, that it will batten on a dish side, and when they are cold, put them together.

To preserve Oranges and Lemons the best way

Take and boyl them as for Paste, then take as much Sugar as they weigh, and put to it as much water as will cover them by making a Syrup, then boyl them very leisurely till they be clear, then take them up and boyl the Syrup till it batten on the dish side, and when they are cold put them up, &c.

An approved Conserve for a Cough or Consumption of the Lungs.

Take a pound of Elecampane roots, draw out the Pith, and boyl them in two waters till they be soft; when it is cold put to it the like quantity of the pap of roasted Pippins, and three times their weight of brown Sugar-candy beaten to powder, stamp these in a Mortar to a Conserve, whereof take every morning fasting as much as a Walnut for a week or fortnight together, & afterwards but three times a week. Approved.

To make Conserve of any of these Fruits.

When you have boyled your Paste as followeth, ready to fashion on the Pie-plate, put it up into Gallipots, and never dry it, and this is all the difference between Conservees. And so you may make Conservees of any Fruits, this for all hard Fruits, as Quinces, Pippins, Oranges and Lemons,

To dry any Fruits after they are preserved, or Candy them.

Take Pippins, Pears or Plums, and wash them out in warm water from the Syrup they are preserved in, strew them over with sieved Sugar, as you would do flowers upon fish to fry them; set them in a broad earthen pan, that they may lie one by one; then set them in a warm Oven or Stove to dry. If you will candy them without, you must strew on Sugar three or four times in the drying.

To preserve Artichocks young, green Walnuts and Lemons, and the Elecampane roots or any bitter thing.

TAke any of these, and boyl them tender, and shift them in their boyling six or seven times to take away their bitterness out of one hot water into another, then put a quart of Salt unto them, then take them up and dry them with a fair cloth, then put them into as much clarified Sugar as will cover them, then let them boyl a walm or two, and so let them stand soaking in the Sugar till the next morning, then take them up, and boyl the Sugar a little higher by it self, and when they are cold put them up.

Let your green Walnuts be prickt full of holes with a great pin, and let them not be long in one water, for that will make them look black: being boyled tender, stick two or three Cloves in each of them.

Set your Elecampane roots, being clean scraped, and shifted in their boylings a dozen times, then dry them in a fair cloth, and so boyl them as is above written, take half so much more than it doth weigh, because it is better, &c.

To

To preserve Quinces white or red.

TAke the Quinces, and coar them, and pare them, those that you will have white, put them into a pail of water two or three hours, then take as much Sugar as they weigh, put to it as much water as will make a Syrup to cover them, then boyl your Syrup a little while, then put your Quinces in, and boyl them as fast as you can, till they be tender and clear, then take them up, and boyl the Syrup a little higher by it self, and being cold put them up. And if you will have them red, put them raw into Sugar, and boyl them leisurely close covered till they be red and put them into cold water.

To preserve Grapes.

TAke the Clusters and stone them as you do Barberries, then take a little more Sugar than they weigh, put to it as much Applo water as will make a Syrup to cover them, then boyl them as you do Cherries as fast as you can, till the Syrup be thick, and being cold, pot it: thus may you preserve Barberries or English Currans, or any kind of berries.

*To Preserve Pippins, Apricocks, Pear-Plums,
and Peaches when they are ripe.*

TAKE Pippins and pare them, bore a hole through them, and put them in a pail of water, then take as much Sugar as they do weigh, and put to it as much water as will make a Syrup to cover them, and boyl them as fast as you can, so that you keep them from breaking, untill they be tender, that you may prick a Rush through them: let them be a soaking till they be almost cold, then put them up.

Your Apricocks and Peaches must be stoned and pared, but the Pear-Plums must not be stoned nor pared. Then take a little more Sugar than they weigh, then take as much Apple water and Sugar as will make a Syrup for them, then boyl them as you do your Pippins, and Pot them as you do the Pippins likewise, &c.

*To Preserve Pippins, Apricocks, Pear-Plums,
or Peaches green.*

TAKE your Pippins green and coddle them in fair water, but let the water boyl first before you put them in, and you must shift them in two hot waters before they will be tender, then pull off the skin from

from them, and so case them in so much clarified Sugar as will cover them, and so boyl them as fast as you can, keeping them from breaking, then take them up, and boyl the Syrup untill it be as thick as for Quiddony; then pot them, and pour the Syrup into them before they be cold.

Take your Apricocks and Pear-Plums and boyl them tender, then take as much Sugar as they do weigh, and take as much water as will make the Syrup, take your green Peaches before they are stoned and thrust a pin through them, and then make a strong water of ashes, and cast them into the hot standing lye to take off the furr from them, then wash them in three or four waters warm, so then put them into so much clarified Sugar as will candy them; so boyl them, and put them up, &c.

To dry Pippins or Pears without Sugar.

TAKE Pippins or Pears and prick them full of holes with a bodkin, and lay them in sweet wort three or four days, then lay them on a sieves bottom, till they be dry in an Oven, but a drying heat. This you may do to any tender Plumb.

To make Syrup of Clove-gillyflowers.

TAKE a quart of water, half a bushel of Flowers, cut off the whites, and with a sieve sift away the seeds, bruise them a little; let your water be boyled, add a little cold again, then put in your Flowers, and let them stand close covered twenty four hours; you may put in but half the flowers at a time, the strength will come out the better; to that liquor put in four pound of Sugar, let it lye in all night, next day boyl it in a Gallypot, set it in a pot of water, and there let it boyl till all the Sugar be melted and the Sugar be pretty thick, then take it out, and let it stand in that till it be through cold, then glass it.

To make Syrup of Hyssop for Colds.

TAKE a handful of Hyssop, of Figs, Raisins, Dates, of each one ounce, of Collin half an handful, French Barley one ounce, boyl therein three pints of fair water to a quart, strain it and clarify it with two whites of Eggs, then put in two pound of fine Sugar and boyl it to a Syrup.

To

To make Orange Water.

TAKE a pottle of the best Malaga Sack, and put in as many of the peels of Oranges as will go in, cut the white clean off, let them steep twenty four hours; still them in a glass still, and let the water run into the Receiver upon fine Sugarcandy; you may still it in an ordinary Still.

To dry Cherries.

TAKE a pound of Sugar, dissolve it in thin fair water, when it is boyled a little while, put in your Cherries after they are stoned, four pound to one pound of Sugar, let them lye in the Sugar three days, then take them out of the syrup and lay them on sieves one by one, and set them before the Sun on stools, turn them every day, else they will mould; when they look of a dark red colour, and are dry, then put them up. And so you may do any manner of Fruits. In the Sun is the best drying of them, put into the syrup some juice of Rasps.

To make juce of Liquorish.

TAKE English Liquorish and stamp it very clean, bruise it with a hammer, and cut it in pieces; to a pound of Liquorish thus bruised, put a quart of Hyssop water, let let them soak together in an earthen pot a day and a night, then pull the Liquorish into small pieces, and lay it in soak again two days more; then strain out the Liquorish, and boyl the liquor a good while. Stir it often; then put in half a pound of Sugar-candy, or Loaf-Sugar finely beaten, four grains of Musk, as much Ambergreece, bruse them small with a little Sugar, then boyl them together till it be good and thick, still have a care you burn it not; then put it out in glass plates, and make it into round rolls, and set it in a drying place till it be stiff, and that you may work it into rolls to be cut as big as Barley-corns, and so lay them on a place again: If it be needful strew on the place again a little Sugar to prevent thickning, so dry them still if there be need, and if they should be too dry, the heat of the fire will soften them again.

A Perfume for Clothes, Gloves.

TAKE of Linet two grains, of Musk three, of Ambergreece four, and the Oyl of Bems a pretty quantity; grind them all upon a Marble stone fit for that purpose, then with a brush or sponge rake them over, and it will sweeten them very well: your Gloves and Jerkins must first be washed

ed

ed in old red Rose-water, and when they are almost dry, stretch them forth smooth, and lay on the Perfumes.

To make Almond Bisket.

TAKE the whites of four new laid Eggs, and two yolks, then beat it well for an hour together, then have in readiness a quarter of a pound of the best Almonds blanchd in cold water, and beat them very small with Rose-wart, for fear of Oyling: then have a pound of the best Loaf-Sugar finely beaten, beat that in the Eggs a while, then put in your Almonds, and five or six spoonfuls of the finest flower, and so bake them together upon paper plates, you may have a little fine Sugar in a piece of tiffiny to dust them over as they be in the Oven, so bake them as you do Bisket.

To dry Apricocks.

First stone them, then weigh them, take the weight of them in double refined Sugar, make Syrup with so much water as will wet them, and boyl it up so high, that a drop being dropped on a Plate it will slip clean off, when it is cold, put in your Apricocks, being pared, whilst your Syrup is hot, but it must not be taken off the fire

before you put them in, then turn them in the Syrup often, then let them stand three quarters of an hour; then take them out, set the Syrup, and tie them up in Tiffanies, one in a tiffany or more, as they be in bignets and whilst you are tying them up, set the Syrup on the fire to heat but not to boyl, then put your Apricocks into the Syrup, and set them on a quick fire, and let them boyl as fast as you can, skin them clean, and when they look clear, take them from the fire, and let them lye in the Syrup till the next day, then set them on the fire to heat, but not to boyl; then set them by till the next day, and lay them upon a clean sieve to drain, and when they are well drained, take them out of the Tiffanies, and so dry them in a stove, or better in the Sun with glasses over them, to keep them from the dust.

To make Quinces for Pies.

Wipe the Quinces, and put them in to a little vessel of small Beer when it hath done working: stop them close that no Air can get in, and this will keep them fair all the year, and good.

To

The best way to break sweet Powder.

Take of Orrice one pound, Calamus a quarter of a pound, of Benjamin one half pound, Storax half a pound, Civit a quarter of an ounce, Cloves a quarter of a pound, Musk one half ounce, Oyl of Orange-flowers one ounce, Lignum Aloes one ounce, Rosewood a quarter of a pound, Ambergreece a quarter of an ounce. To every pound of Roses put a pound of powder, the bag must be of Taffaty, or else the powder will run through.

To make excellent Perfumes.

Take a quarter of a pound of Damask Rose-buds cut clean from the whites, stamp them very small, put to them a good spoonful of Damask Rose-water, to let them stand close stopped all night, then take one ounce and a quarter of Benjamin finely beaten, and also searsed, (if you will) twenty grains of Civet, and ten grains of Musk; mingle these with the Roses, beating them well together, then make it up in little Cakes between Rose-leaves, and dry them between sheets of Paper.

To

To make Conserve of Roses boiled.

TAKE a quart of red Rosewater, a quart of fair water, boil in the water a pound of red Rose-leaves, the whites cut off, the leaves must be boiled very tender; then take three pound of Sugar, and put to it a pound at a time, and let it boil a little between every pound, so put it up in your pots.

To make Conserve of Roses unboiled.

TAKE a pound of red Rose-leaves, the whites cut off, stamp them very fine, take a pound of sugar and beat in with the Roses, and put it in a pot, and cover it with leather, and set it in a cool place.

To make a very good Pomatum.

TAKE the fat of a young Dog one pound, it must be killed so that the Blood settle not into the fat, then let the outer skin be taken off before it be opened, lest any of the hair come to the fat, then take all the fat from the inside, and as soon as you take it off sling it into Conduit-water; and if you see the second skin be clear, peel it and water it with the other; be sure it cools not out of the water: you must not let any of the flesh remain on it, for then the Pomatum will not keep. To one pound of this fat take two pound of Lambs-caul, and put it to the other in the water, and when you see it is cold, drain it from the water into a Napkin, and break it into little pieces with your fingers, and take out all the little veins; then take eight ounces of Oyl of Tartar, and put in that first, stirring it well together, then put it into a gallon of Conduit-water, and let it stand till night; shift this with so much Oyl and Water morning and evening seven days together, and be sure to shift it constantly; and the day before you mean to melt it wring it hard by a little at a time, and be sure the Oyl and Water be all out of it, wring the water well out of it with a Napkin every time you shift it, then put in three pints of Rose-water; let it stand close cover'd twelve hours, then wring out that, and put it in a pint of fresh Rose-water into a high Gallypot with the feces; then tie it close up, and set it in a pot of water, and let it boil two hours, then take it out, and strain it into an earthen pan, let it stand till it be cold, then cut a hole in it, and let out the Water, then scrape away the bottom, and dry it with a cloth, and dry the pan; melt it in a Chafindish of Coals, or in the Gallipots; beat it so long, till it look very white and shining, then with with your hand sling it in fine Cakes upon white Paper, and let it lye till it be cold, then put it into Gallipots. This will be very good for two or three years.

To make Raisin Wine.

Take two pound of Raisins of the Sun shred, a pound of good powdered sugar, the juice of two Lemons, one peel, put these in an earthen pot with a top, and then take two gallons of Water; let it boil half an hour, then take it hot from the Fire, and put it into the pot, and cover it close for three or four days, stirring it twice a day; being strained, put it into Bottles, and stop it more close, in a fortnight or three weeks it may be drank: you may put in Clove-Gilliflowers, or Cowslips, as the time of year is when you make it; and when you have drawn this from the Raisins, and bottled it up, heat two quarts of water more, put it to the Ingredients, and let it stand as aforesaid. This will be good, but smaller than the other, the water must be boiled as the other.

To make Raspberry-Wine.

Take a gallon of good Rhenish-wine, put into it as much Raspberries very ripe as will make it strong, put it in an earthen pot, and let it stand two days, then pour your Wine from your Raspberries, and put into every Bottle two ounces of Sugar, stop it up and keep it by you.

The best way to preserve Cherries.

Take the best Cherries you can get, and cut the stalks something short, then for every pound of those Cherries take two pound of other Cherries, and put them off their stalks and stones, put to them ten spoonfuls of fair water, and then set them on the fire to boil very fast till you see that the colour of the Syrup be like pale Claret-wine, then take it off the fire, and drain them from the Cherries into a pan to preserve in. Take to every pound of Cherries a quarter of sugar, of which take half and dissolve it with the Cherry-water drained from the Cherries, and keep them boiling very fast till they will jelly in a spoon, and as you see the Syrup thin, take of the sugar that you kept finely beaten, and put it to the Cherries in the boiling; the faster they boyl

boyl the better they will be preserved, and let them stand in a Pan till they be almost cold.

A Tincture of Ambergrease.

TAke Ambergrease one ounce, Musk two drams, Spirit of Wine half a pint, or as much as will cover the Ingredients two or three fingers breadth; put all into a glass, stop it close with a Cork and Bladder; set it in Horsedung ten or twelve days, then pour off gently the spirit of Wine, and keep it in a glass close stoppt, then put more spirit of Wine on the Ambergrease, and do as before; then pour it off: after all this the Ambergrease will serve for ordinary uses. A drop of this will perfume any thing, and in Cordials it is very good.

To make Usquebagh the best way:

TAke two quarts of the best Aqua vitae, four ounces of scraped Liquorish, and half a pound of sliced Raisins of the Sun, Anniseeds four ounces, Dates and Figs of each half a pound, sliced Nutmeg, Cinnamon, Ginger, of each half an ounce, put these to the Aqua vitae, stop it very close, and set it in cold places ten days, stirring it twice a day with a stick, then strain off, sweeten it with sugarcandy; after it is strained, Drained let it stand till it be clear, then put into the glass Musk and Ambergrease, two grains is sufficient for this quantity.

To preserve Cherries with a quarter of their weight in Sugar.

TAke four pound of Cherries, one pound of Sugar, beat your Sugar, and strew a little in the bottom of your skillet, then pull off the stalks and stones of your Cherries, and cut them cross the bottom with a Knife; let the juice of the Cherries run upon the sugar, for there must be no other Liquor but the juice of the Cherries; cover your Cherries over with one half of your Sugar, boyl them very quick, when they are half boiled put in the remainder of your sugar, when they are almost enough put in the rest of the Sugar; you must let them boil till they part in sunder like Marmalade, stirring them continually; so put them up hot into your warm Marmalade Glasses.

To make Jelly of Pippins.

TAke Pippins, and pare them, and quarter them, and put as much water to them as will cover them, and let them boyl till all the vertue of the Pippins are out, then strain them, and take to a pint of that liquor a pound pound of Sugar, and cut long threads of Orange-peels and boyl in it, then take a Liemon, and pare and slice it very thin, and boyl it in your Liquor a little thin; take them out, and lay them in the bottom of your glafs, and when it is boyled to a Jelly pour it on the Lemons in the Glafs; you must boyl the Oranges in two or three waters before you boyl it in the Jelly.

To make Apricock Cakes.

TAKE the fairest Apricocks you can get, and parboyl them very tender, then take off the Pulp and their weight of sugar, and boyl the Sugar and Apricocks together very fast; stir them ever lest they burn to, and when you can see the bottom of the skillet it is enough, then put them into cards sowed round, and dust them with fine Sugar, and when they are cold stone them, then turn them, and fill them up with some more of the same stuff; but you must let them stand for three or four days before you turn them off the first place; and when you find they begin to candy, take them out of the Cards, dust them with sugar again, so do ever when you turn them.

To

To preserve Barberries the best way.

First stone them and weigh them, half a pound of Sugar to half a pound of them, then pare them and slice them into that liquor, take the weight of them in sugar, then take as many Rasberries as will colour it, and strain them into the liquor, then put in the sugar, boyl it as fast as you can, then scum it till it be very clear, then put in your Barberries and that sugar you weighed, and so let them boyl till the skin be fully risen up, then take them off, and scum them very clean, and put them up.

To make Lozenges of red Roses.

BOyl your sugar to sugar again, then put in your red Roses being finely beaten, and made moist with the juice of a Lemon let it not boyl after the Roses are in, but pour it upon a Pye-plate, and cut it into what form you please.

To make Chips of Quinces.

First scald them very well, then slice them into a dish, and pour a Candy Syrup to them scalding hot, and let them stand all night, then lay them on plates, and scarce sugar on them, and turn them every day, day, and scrape more sugar on them till they be dry. If you would have them look clear, heat them in syrup, but not to boyl.

To make Sugar of Wormwood, Mint, Anniseed, or any other of that kind.

TAKE double-refined sugar, and do but wet it in fair water or Rose-water, and boyl to a Candy; when it is almost boiled take it off, and stir it till it be cold; then drop in three or four drops of the Oyle of whatso ever you will make, and stir it well; then drop it on a board, being before fitted with sugar.

To make Syrup of Lemons or Citrons.

PARE off all the rinds, then slice your Lemons very thin, and lay a lare of Sugar finely beaten, and a lare of Lemons in a silver Bason till you have fitted it, or as much as you mean to make, and so let it stand all night; the next day pour off the liquor that runs from it into a glass through a Tiffany strainer. Be sure you put sugar enough to them at the first, and it will keep a year good if it be set up well.

To

To make Jambals of Apricocks or Quince.

TAKE Apricocks or Quinces, and Coddle them tender, then take their Pulp and dry it in a dish over a Chafindish of coals, and set it on a stone for a day or two, then beat it in a stone Mortar, putting in as much Sugar as will make a stiff paste; then colour it with Saunders, Cochenel or blew Starch, and make it up in what colour you please, rowl them with battle doors into long pieces, and tye them up in knots, and so dry them.

To make Cherry Water.

TAKE nine pound of Cherries, pull out the stones and stalks, break them with your hand, and put them into nine pints of Claret-Wine, take nine ounces of Cinnamon, and three Nutmegs, bruise them and put them into this, then take of Rosemary and balm, of each half a handful, of sweet Marjoram a quarter of an handful; put all these with the aforementioned into an earthen pot well leaden; so let them stand to infuse twenty four hours; so distill them in a Limbeck, keeping the strongest water by it self; put some sugar finely beaten into your glasses. If your first water be too strong, put some

some of the second to it as you use it. If you please you may tye some Musk and Ambergreece in a rag, and hang it by a thread in your glass.

To make Orange Cakes.

TAKE Oranges and pare them as thin as you can, then take out the meats clean and put them in water, let them lye about an hour, shift the water and boyl them very tender in three or four waters, then put them up, and dry them on a cloth: mince them as small as you can, then put them into a dish, and squeeze all the juyce of the meat into them, and let them stand till the next day, take to every pound of these a pound and a quarter of double refined sugar. Boyl it with a spoonful of water at the boottom to keep it from burning till it be sugar again; then put in your Oranges and let them stand and dry on the fire, but not boyl; then put them on glass plates, and put them in a stove, the next day make them into Cakes, and to dry them as fast as you can.

To preserve Oranges the French way.

TAKE twelve of the fairest Oranges and best coloured, and if you can get them with

with smooth skins they are the better, and lay them in Conduit water six days and nights, shifting them into fresh water morning and evening: then boyl them very tender, and with a knife pare them very thin, rub them with salt; when you have so done, core them with a coring Iron taking out the meat and seeds, then rub them with a dry cloth till they be clean, and to every pound of Oranges a pound and a half of sugar, and to a pound of sugar a pint of water; then mingle your sugar and water well together in a large skillet or pan; beat the whites of three Eggs and put that into it, then set it on the fire, and let it boyl till it rises, and strain it through a Napkin; then set it on the fire again, and let it boyl till the Syrup be thick, then put in your Oranges and make them seeth as fast as you can, now and then putting in a piece of fine loaf sugar the bigness of a walnut, when they have boyled near an hour, put into them a pint of Apple water; then boyl them apace, and half a pint of white Wine, this should be put in before the Apple-water, when your Oranges are very clear, and your Syrup so thick that it will gelly, (which you may know by setting them to cool in the (spoon) when they are ready to be taken off from the fire; then put in the juyce of eight Lemons warm into them, then put them into a earthen pan, and so let them stand till they be cold, then put every Orange in a severall glass or po; if you do but six Oranges at a time, it is the better.

To preserve green Plums.

THe greatest Wheaten Plums is the best, which will be ripe in the midst of July, gather them about that time, or later as they grow in bigness, but you must not suffer them to turn yellow, for then they never be of good colour; being gathered, lay them in water for the space of twelve hours, and when you gather them, wipe them with a clean linnen cloth, and cut of a little of the stalks of every one, then set two skillets of water on the fire; and when one is scalding hot put in your Plums, and take them from the fire, and cover them, and let the rest for the space of a quarter of an hour; then take them up, and when your other skillet of water doth boyl, put them into it; let them but stay in it a very little while, and so let the other skillet of water, wherein they were first

first boyled, be set on the fire again, and make it to boyl, and put in your Plums as before, and then you shall see them rivet over, and yet your Plums very whole; then while they be hot, you must with your knife scrape away the riveting; then take to every pound of Plums a pound and two ounces of sugar finely beaten, then set a pan with a little fair water on the fire, and when it boyls put in your Plums, and let them seeth half a quarter of an hour till you see the colour wax green, then set them off the fire a quarter of an hour, and take a handful of sugar that is weighed, and strew it in the bottom of the pan wherein you will preserve, and so put in your Plums one by one, drawing the liquor from them, and cast the rest of your sugar on them: then set the pan on a moderate fire, letting them boyl continually, but very softly, and in three quarters of an hour they will be ready, as you may perceive by the greenness of your Plums, and thickness of your Syrup, which if they be boyled enough, will gelly when it is cold; then take up your Plums, and put them into a Gallipot, but boyl your Syrup a little longer, then strain it into some vessel, and being blood warm, pour it upon your Plums, but stop

not the pot before they be cold. Note also you must preserve them in such a pan, as they may lye one by another and turn of themselves; and when they have been five or six days in the Syrup, that the Syrup grow thin, you may boyl it again with a little sugar, but put it not to your Plums till they be cold. They must have three scaldings and one boyling.

To dry Plums.

Take three quarters of a pound of Sugar to a pound of black Pear Plums or Damsons, slit the Plums in the Crest, lay a lay of Sugar with a lay of Plums, and let them stand all night; if you stone the Plums, fill up the place with Sugar, then boyl them but gently till they be very tender, without breaking the skins, take them into an earthen or silver dish, and boyl your Syrup afterwards for a gelly, then pour it on your Plums scalding hot, and let them stand two or three days, then let them be put into the Oven after you draw your bread, so often untill your Syrup be dried up, and when you think they are almost dry, lay them in a sieve, and pour some scalding water on them, which will run through the sieve, and set them in an Oven afterwards to dry.

To preserve Cherries the best way, bigger then they grow naturally, &c.

Take a pound of the smallest Cherries and boyl them tender in a pint of fair water, then strain the liquor from the substance, then take two pound of good Cherries, and put them in a preserving pan, with a lay of Cherries, and a lay of Sugar, then pour the Syrup of the other Cherries about them, and so let them boyl as fast as you can with a quick fire, that the syrup may boyl over them, and when your syrup is thick and of good colour, then take them up, and let them stand a cooling by partitions one from another, and being cold you may pot them up.

To preserve Damsons, red Plums or black.

Take your Plums newly gathered, and take a little more Sugar than they do weigh, then put to it as much water as will cover them; then boyl your syrup a little while, and so let it cool, then put in your Damsons or Plums, then boyl them leisurely in a pot of seething water till they be tender, then being almost cold pot them up.

To dry Pippins or Pears.

Take your Pippins, Pears, Apricocks; pare them, and lay them in a broad earthen pan one by one, and so rowl them in fearled Sugar as you flower fried fish; put them in an Oven as hot as for Manchester, and so take them out, and turn them as long as the Oven is hot; when the Oven is of a drying heat, lay them upon a Paper, and dry them on the bottom of a sieve; so you may do the least Plum that is.

To dry Pippins or Pears another way.

Take Pippins or Pears, and lay them in an earthen pan one by one, and when they be baked plump and not broken, then take them out, and lay them by, and lay them upon a paper, then lay them on a sieves bottom, and dry them as you did before.

To dry Apricocks tender.

Take the ripest of the Apricocks, pare them, put them into a silver or earthen Skillet, and to a pound of Apricocks put three quarters of a pound of Sugar, set your Apricocks over your fire; stirring them till they come to a Pulp and set the Sugar in another skillet by, boyling it up to a good height, then take all the Apricocks, and stir them round till they be well mingled, gled, then let it stand till it be something cold and thick, then put it into Cards, being cut of the fashion of an Apricock, and laid upon glass plates, fill the Cards half full, then set them in your stove; but when you find they are so dry that they are ready to turn; then provide as much of your pulp as you had before, and put to every one a stove, when they are turned (which you must have said before) and pour the rest of the Pulp upon them, so set them into your stove, turning them till they be dry.

To dry Plums.

Expertly Prescribing

The most ready Ways, whether Italian, Spanish or French, for Dressing of FLESH and FISH, &c.

To make a Posset the Earl of Arundel's way.

TAke a quart of Cream, and a quarter of a Nutmeg in it, then put it on the fire, and let it boyl a little while, and as it is boyl-ing, take a pot or bason, that you mean to make your Posset in, and put in three spoonfuls of Sack, and some eight of Ale, and sweeten it with Sugar, then set it over

over the Coals to warm a little while, then take it off, and let it stand till it be almost cool, then put it into the pot or bason, and stir it a little, and let it stand to simmer over the fire an hour or more, for the longer the better.

To boyl a Capon Larded with Lemons.

TAKE a fair Capon and truss him, boyl him by himself in fair water, with a little small Oatmeal, then take Mutton broth, and half a pint of white-Wine, a bundle of herbs, whole Mace, season it with Verjuice, put Marrow, Dates, season it with Sugar, then take preserved Lemons, and cut them like Lard, and with a Larding-pin lard it in, then put the Capon in a deep dish, thicken your broth with Almonds, and pour it on the Capon.

To bake Red Deer.

PARBOYL it, and then sauce it in Vinegar, then lard it very thick, and season it with Pepper, Ginger and Nutmegs, put it into a deep Pye with good store of sweet Butter, and let it bake, when it is baked take a pint of Hypocras, half a pound of sweet Butter, two or three Nutmegs, a little little Vinegar. put it into the Pye in the Oven, and let it lye and soak an hour, then take it out, and when it is cold stop the vent-hole.

To make fine Pancakes fryed without Butter or Lard.

TAKE a pint of Cream, and six new-laid Eggs, beat them very well together, put in a quarter of a Pound of Sugar, and one Nutmeg, or a little beaten Mace (which you please) and so much flower as will thicken almost as much as ordinarily Pancake-batter; your Pan must be heated reasonable hot, and wiped with a clean cloth, this done, put in your Batter as thick or thin as you please.

To dress a Pig the French Manner.

TAKE it and spit it, and lay it down to the fire, and when your Pig is through warm, skin her, and cut her off the spit as another Pig is, and so divide it into twenty pieces more or less as you please; when you have so done, take some white-Wine and strong Broth, and stew it therein, with an Onion or two mixed very small, a little Thyme also minced, with Nutmeg sliced and grated grated Pepper, some Anchovies and Elder Vinegar, and a very little sweet Butter, and Gravy if you have it, so dish it up with the same Liquor it is stewed in, with French Bread sliced under it, with Oranges and Lemons.

To make a Steak Pye with a French Pudding in the Pye.

SEASON your Steaks with Pepper and Nutmegs, and let it stand an hour in a Tray; then take a piece of the leanest of a Leg of Mutton, and mince it small with suet and a few sweet Herbs, tops of young Thyme, a branch of Pennyroyal, two or three of red Sage, grated bread, yolks of Eggs, sweet Cream, Raisins of the Sun, work together like a Pudding with your hand till and rowl them round like balls and put them into the Steaks in a deep Coffin, with a piece of sweet Butter; sprinkle a little Verjuice on it, bake it, then cut it up, and rowl Sage leaves and fry them, and stick them upright in the walls, and serve your Pye without a cover, with the juyce of an Orange or Lemon.

An

An Excellent way of dressing Fish.

TAKE a piece of fresh Salmon, and wash it clean in a little Vinegar and water, and let it lye a while in it, then put it into a great Pipkin with a cover, and put to it some six spoonfuls of water and four of Vinegar, and as much of white-wine, a good deal of Salt, a handful of sweet herbs, a little white Sorrel, a few Cloves, a little stick of Cinnamon, a little Mace, put all these in a Pipkin close, and set it in a Kettle of seething water, and there let it stew three hours.

You may do Carps, Eels, Trouts, &c. this way, and they taste also to your mind.

To fricate Sheeps Feet.

TAKE Sheeps feet, slit the bones, and pick them very clean, then put them in a Frying-pan with a Ladleful of strong Broth, a piece of Butter, and a little Salt, after they have fryed a while, put to them a little Parsley, green Chibbalds, a little young Spearmint and Thyme, all shred very small, and a little beaten Pepper, when you think they are fryed almost enough, have a kar made for them with the yolks of two or

or three Eggs, some gravy of Mutton, a little Nutmeg, and juyce of a Lemon wrung therein, and put this lear to the Sheeps feet as they fry in the Pan, then toss them once or twice, and put them forth into the Dish you mean to serve them in.

To fricate Calves Chaldrons.

TAKE a Calves Chaldron, after it is little more than half boyled, and when it is cold, cut it into little bits as big as Walnuts; season it with beaten Cloves, Salt, Nutmeg, Mace, and a little Pepper, an Onion, Parsley, and a little Tarragon, all shred very small, then put it into a Frying-pan with a Ladleful of strong Broth, and a little sweet Butter, so fry it; when it is fryed enough, have a little lear made with the gravy of Mutton, the juyce of a Lemon and Orange, the yolks of three or four Eggs, and a little Nutmeg grated therein; put all to your Chaldrons in the Pan, toss your fricate two or three times, then dish it, and so serve it up.

To fricate Champigneons.

MAKE ready your Champigneons as you do for stewing, and when you have poured away the black liquor that comes from

from them, put your Champigneons into a Frying pan with a piece of sweet Butter, a little Parsley, Thyme, sweet-Marjoram, a piece of Onion shred very small, a little Salt and fine beaten Pepper, so fry them till they be enough, so have ready the lear above-said, and put it to the Champigneons whilst they are in the Pan, toss them two or three times, put them forth and serve them.

To make Buttered Loaves.

TAKE the yolks of twelve Eggs, and six whites, and a quarter of a pint of yeast; when you have beaten the Eggs well, strain them with the yeast into a dish, then put to it a little Salt, and two races of Ginger beaten very small, then put flower to it till it come to high Paste that will not cleave, then you must rowl it upon you hands, and afterwards put it into a warm Cloth, and let it lye there a quarter of an hour, then make it up in little Loaves, and bake it; against it is baked, prepare a pound and a half of Butter, and a quarter of a pint of white-Wine, and half a pound of Sugar; this being melted and beaten together with it, set them in the Oven a quarter of an hour.

To murine Carps, Mullet, Gurnet, Rochet or Wale, &c.

TAKE a quart of water to a gallon of Vinegar, a good handful of Bay-leaves, as much Rosemary, a quarter of a pound of Pepper beaten; put all these together, and let it seeth softly, and season it with a little Salt; then fry your Fish with frying Oyl till it be enough, then put it in an earthen vessel, and lay the Bay-leaves and Rosemary between and about the Fish, and pour the Broth upon it, and when it is Cold, cover it, &c.

To make a Calves Chauldron Pye.

TAKE a Calves Chauldron, half boyl it, and cool it, when it is cold mince it as small as grated Bread, with half a pound of Marrow, season it with Salt, beaten Cloves, Mace, Nutmeg, a little Onion, and some of the outmost rind of a Lemon minced very small, and wring in the juyce of half a Lemon, and then mix all together, then make a piece of puff Paste, and lay a leaf thereof in a silver dish of the bigness to contain the meat, then put in your meat, and cover it with another leaf of the same paste, and bake it; and when it is baked
take

take it out and open it, and put in the juyce of two or three Oranges, stir it well together, then cover it again and serve it. Be sure none of your Orange kernels be among your Py-meat.

To make a Puddin of a Calves Chauldron.

TAKE your Chauldron after it is half boyled and cold, mince it as small as you can with half a pound of beef-suet, or as much marrow, season it with a little Onion, Parsley, Thyme, and the outmost rind of a piece of Lemon, all shred very small, Salt, beaten Nutmeg, Cloves and Mace mixed together, with the yolks of four or five Eggs, and a little sweet Cream; then have ready the great guts of a Mutton scraped and washed very clean; let your Gut have lain in white Wine and Salt half a day before you use it; when your meat is mixed and made up somewhat stiff, put it into the sheeps guts, and so boyl it, when it is boyled enough, serve it to the Table in the Gut.

To make a Banbury Cake.

TAKE a peck of pure Wheat-flower, six pound of Currans, half a pound of Sugar, gar, two pound of Butter, half an ounce of Cloves and Mace, a pint and a half of Ale-yeast, and a little Rosewater; then boyl as much new Milk as will serve to knead it, and when it is almost cold, put into it as much Sack as will thicken it, and so work it all together before a fire, pulling it two or three times in pieces, after make it up.
Q

To make a Devonshire White-pot.

Take a pint of Cream and strain four Eggs into it, and put a little Salt and a little sliced Nutmeg, and season it with Sugar somewhat sweet, then take almost a penny Loaf of fine bread sliced very thin, and put it into a Dish that will hold it, the Cream and the Eggs being put to it, then take a handful of Raisins of the Sun, being boyled, and a little sweet Butter, so bake it.

To make Rice-Cream.

Take a quart of Cream, two good handfuls of Rice-flower, a quarter of a pound of Sugar and flower beaten very small, mingle your Sugar and flower together, put it into your Cream, take the yolk of an Egg, beat it with a spoonful or two of Rosewater, then put it to the Cream, and stir all these together, together, and set it over a quick fire, keeping it continually stirring till it be as thick as water-pap.

To make a very good great Oxfordshire Cake.

Take a peck of flower by weight, and dry it a little, and a pound and a half of Sugar, an ounce of Cinnamon, half an ounce of Nutmegs, a quarter of an ounce of Mace and Cloves, a good spoonful of Salt, beat your Salt and Spice very fine, and searse it, and mix it with your flower and Sugar, then take three pound of Butter and work it in the flower, it will take three hours working; then take a quart of Ale-yeast, two quarts of Cream, half a pint of Sack, six grains of Ambergreece dissolved in it, half a pint of Rosewater, sixteen Eggs, eight of the whites, mix the yolk with the flower, and knead them well together, then let it lye warm by your fire till your Oven be hot, which must be a little hotter than for Manchester; when you make it ready for your Oven, put to your Cake six pound of Currans, two pound of Raisins of the Sun stoned and minced, so make up your Cake, and set it in your Oven stopped close; it will take three hours baking; when baked, take it out and moist it over with the white of an Egg and

Rose-water well beat together, and strew fine Sugar upon it, and then set it again into the Oven, that it may ice.

To make a Pumpkin Pye.

TAKE about half a pound of Pumpkin and slice it, a handful of Thyme, a little Rosemary, Parsly, and sweet Marjoram slipped off the stalks, and chop them small, then take Cinnamon, Nutmeg, Pepper, and six Cloves, and beat them; take ten Eggs and beat them, then mix them, and beat them all together, and put in as much Sugar as you think fit, then fry them like a froize, after it is fryed, let it stand till it be cold, then fill your Pye, take sliced Apples thin round ways, and lay a row of the Froize, and a layer of Apples, with Currans betwixt the layer while your Pye is fitted, and put in a good deal of sweet butter before you close it; when the Pye is baked, take six yolks of Eggs, some white-Wine or Verjuyce, and make a Caudle of this, but not too thick; cut up the lid and put it in, stir them well together whilst the Eggs and Pumpions be not perceived, and so serve it up.

To

To make the best Sausages that ever were eat.

TAKE a Leg of young Pork, and cut off all the lean, and shred it very small, but leave none of the strings or skins amongst it, then take two pound of Beef-suet, and shred it small, then take two handfuls of red Sage, a little Pepper and Salt, and Nutmeg, and a small piece of an Onion, chop them altogether with the flesh and Suet; if it is small enough, put the yolk of two or three Eggs, and mix altogether, and make it up in a paste; if you will use it, rowl out as many pieces as you please in the form of an ordinary Sausage, and so fry them: this paste will keep a fortnight upon occasion.

To boyl a Fresh Fish.

TAKE a Carp, or other, and put them into a deep dish, with a pint of white-Wine, a large Mace; a little Thyme, Rosemary, a piece of sweet Butter, and let him boyl between two dishes in his own blood, season it with Pepper and Verjuyce, and so serve it up on Sippets.

To make Fritters.

TAKE half a pint of Sack, a pint of Ale, some Ale-yeast, nine Eggs, yolks and whites, beat them very well, the Eggs first, then altogether, put in some Ginger, and Salt, and fine Flower, then let it stand an hour or two, then shred in the Apples; when you are ready to fry them, your suet must be all Beef suet, or half Beef, and half Hogs-suet dried out of the leaf.

To make Loaves of Cheese Curds.

TAKE a Porringer full of Curds, and four Eggs, whites and yolks, and so much flower as will make it stiff, then take a little Ginger, Nutmeg and some Salt, make them into loaves, and set them into an Oven with a quick heat; when they begin to change colour take them out, and put melted butter to them, and some Sack, and good store of Sugar, and so serve it.

To make fine Pyes after the French Fashion.

TAKE a pound and a half of Veal, two pound of suet, two pound of great Raisins, stoned, half a pound of Prunes, as

as much of Currans, six Dates, two Nutmegs, a spoonful of Pepper, an ounce of Sugar, an ounce of Carraways, a Sawcer of Verjuyce, and as much Rose-water, this will make three fair Pyes, with two quarts of flower, three yolks of Eggs, and half a pound of Butter.

A singular Receipt for making a Cake.

TAKE half a peck of flower, two pound of Butter, mingle it with the flower, three Nutmegs and a little Mace, Cinnamon, Ginger, half a Pound of Sugar, leave some out to strew on the top, mingle these well with the flower and Butter, five pound of Currans well washed, and pickt and dried in a warm cloth, a wine-pint of Ale-yeast, six Eggs, leave out the whites, a quart of Cream boyled and almost cold again: work it well together, and let it be very lith, lay it in a warm cloth, and let it lye half an hour against the fire. Then make it up with the white of an Egg, a little Butter, Rosewater and Sugar; Ice it over, and put it into an Oven, and let it stand one whole hour and half.

To make a great Curd Loaf.

TAKE the Curds of three quarts of new milk clean wheyed, and rub into them a little of the finest flower you can get, then take half a race of Ginger, and slice it very thin, and put it into your Curds with a little Salt, then take half a pint of good Ale yeast and put to it, then take ten Eggs, but three of the whites, let there be so much flower as will make it into a reasonable stiff paste, then put it into an indifferent hot cloth, and lay it before the fire to rise while your Oven is heating, then make it up into a Loaf, and when it is baked, cut up the top of the Loaf, and put in a pound and half of melted Butter, and a good deal of Sugar in it.

To make buttered loaves of Cheese-Curds.

TAKE three quarts of new Milk, and put in as much Rennet as will turn, take your whey clean away, then break your curds very small with your hands, and put in six yolks of Eggs, but one white; an handful of grated bread, an handful of flower, a little Salt mingled all together; work it with your hand, rowl it into little loaves, then set them in a pan buttered, then beat the yolk

yolk of an Egg with a little beer, and wipe them over with a feather, then set them in an Oven as for Manchet, and stop that close three quarters of an hour, then take half a pound of Butter, three spoonfuls of water, a Nutmeg sliced thin, a little Sugar, set it on the fire, stir it till it be thick; when your loaves are baked, cut off the tops and butter them with this Butter, some under, some over, and strew some Sugar on them.

To make Cheese Loaves.

GRATE a wheat Loaf, and take as much curd as bread, to that put eight yolks of Eggs, and four whites, and beat them very well, then take a little Cream, but let it be very thick, put all together, and make them up with two handfuls of flower, the Curds must be made of new milk, and wheyed very dry, you must make them like little loaves, and bake them in an Oven; and being baked cut them up, and have in readiness some sweet Butter, Sugar, Nutmeg sliced, and mingled together, put it into the loaves, and with it stir the Cream well together, then cover them again with the tops, and serve them with a little Sugar scraped on.

To make Puff.

TAKE four pints of new Milk, Renner, take out the whey very clean, and wring it in a dry Cloth, then strain it in a wooden dish till they become as Cream, then take the yolks of two Eggs, and beat them and put them to the Curds, and leave them with the Curds, then put a spoonful of Cream to them, and if you please half a spoonful of Rosewater, and as much flower beat in it, as will make it of an indifferent stiffness, just to rowl on a Plate, then take off the Kidney of Mutton-suet and purifie it, and fry them in it, and serve them in with Butter, Rosewater and Sugar.

To make Elder Vinegar.

GATHER the flowers of Elder, pick them very clean, and dry them in the Sun on a gentle heat, and take to every quart of Vinegar a good handful of flowers, and let it stand to Sun a fortnight, then strain the Vinegar from the flowers, and put it into the barrel again, and when you draw a quart of Vinegar, draw a quart of water, and put it into the Barrel luke-warm.

To

To make good Vinegar.

TAKE one strike of Malt, and one of Rye ground, and mash them together, and take (if they be good) three pound of Hops, if not four pound; make two Hogs-heads of the best of that Malt and Rye, then lay the Hogs-heads where the Sun may have power over them, and when it is ready to tun, fill your Hogs-heads where they lye: then let them purge clear, and cover them with two slate stones, and within a week after when you bake, take two wheat loves hot out of the Oven, and put into each Hogs-head a loaf, you must use this four times, you must brew this in April, and let it stand till June, then draw them clearer, then wash the Hogsheds clean, and put the Beer in again; if you will have it Rose-vinegar, you must put in a strike and a half of Roses, if Elder-vinegar, a peck of the flowers; if you will have it white, put nothing in it after it is drawn, and so let it stand till Michelmass; if you will have it coloured red, take four gallons of strong Ale as you can get, and Elder-berries picked a few full clear, and put them in your pan with the Ale, set them over the fire till you guess that a pottle is wasted, then take it off the fire, and let it stand standtill it be stone cold, and the next day strain it into the Hogthead; then lay them in a Cellar or Buttery, which you please.

To make a Coller of Beef.

TAKE the thinnest end of a Coast of Beef, boyl it and lay it in Pump-water, and a little salt three days, shifting it once every day, and the last day put a pint of Claret Wine to it, and when you take it out of the water, let it ly two or three hours a draining, then cut it almost to the end in three slices, then bruise a little Cocheneel, & a very little Allom, and mingle it with the Claret Wine, and colour the meat all over with it, then take a dozen of Anchovies, wash them and bone them, and lay them into the Beef, and season it with Cloves, Mace and Pepper, and two handfuls of Salt, and a little sweet-Marjoram, and Thyme, and when you make it up, roul the innermost slice first, and the other two upon it, being very well seasoned every where, and bind it hard with Tape, then put it into a stone pot something bigger then the Coller, and pour upon it a pint of Claret-Wine, and half a pint of Wine-Vinegar, a sprig of Rosemary, and a few Bay-leaves, and bake it very well; before it be quite quite cold, take it out of the pot, and you may keep it dry as long as you please.

To make an Almond Pudding.

TAKE two or three French Rolls, or white Penny-bread, cut them in slices, and put to the Bread as much Cream as will cover it, put it on the fire till your Cream and Bread be very warm, then take a ladle or spoon, and beat it very well together, put to this twelve eggs, but not above four whites, put in Beef-suet, or Marrow, according to your discretion, put a pretty quantity of Currans, and Raisins, season the Pudding with Nutmeg, Mace, Salt, and Sugar, but very little flower, for it will make it sad and heavy; make a piece of Puff-paste as much as will cover your dish, so cut it very handsomely what fashion you please; butter the bottom of your dish, put the pudding into the dish, set it in a quick Oven, not too hot as to burn it, let it bake till you think it be enough, scrape on Sugar, and serve it up.

To boyl Cream with French-Barley.

TAKE the third part of a pound of French Barley, wash it well with fair water, and

and let it lie all night in fair water, in the morning set two skillets on the fire with fair water, and in one of them put your Barley, and let it boyl till the water look read, then put the water from it, and put the Barley into the other warm water, thus boyl it and change it with fresh warm water, till it boyl white, then strain the water clean from it, then take a quart of Cream, put into it a Nutmeg or two quartered, a little large Mace and some Sugar, and let it boyl together a quarter of an hour, and when it hath thus boyled, put into it the yolks of three or four Eggs well beaten, with a little Rose-water, then dish it forth, and eat it cold.

To make Cheese-Cakes.

TAKE three Eggs and beat them very well, and as you beat them, put to them as much fine flower as will make them thick, then put to them three or four Eggs more, and beat them all together; then take one quart of Cream, and put into it a quarter of a pound of sweet Butter, and set them over the fire, and when it begins to boyl put to it your Eggs and flower, stir it very well, and let it boyl till it be thick, then season it with Salt, Cinnamon, Sugar and Currans, and bake it.

To

To make a quaking Pudding.

TAKE a pint and somewhat more of thick Cream, ten Eggs, put the whites of three, beat them very well with two spoonfuls of Rose-water: mingle with your Cream three spoonfuls of fine flower: mingle it so well that there be no lumps in it, put it altogether, and season it according to your taste: butter a Cloth very well, and let it be thick that it may not run out, and let it boyl for half an hour as fast as you can, then take it up and make Sauce with Butter, Rosewater and Sugar, and serve it up.

You may stick some blanched Almonds upon it if you please.

To pickle Cucumbers.

PUT them in an Earthen Vessel, lay first a lay of Salt and Dill, then a lay of Cucumbers, and so till they be all layed, put in some Mace and whole Pepper; and some Fennilseed, according to direction, then fill it up with Beer-Vinegar, and a clean board and a stone upon it to keep them within the Pickle, and so keep them close covered, covered, and if the Vinegar is black, change them into fresh.

To pickle Broombuds:

TAke your Buds before they be yellow on the top, make a brine of Vinegar and Salt, which you must do only by shaking it together till the Salt be melted, then put in your Buds, and keep stirred once in a day till they be sunk within the Vinegar, be sure to keep them close covered.

To pickle Ashenkeys.

TAke the youngest Keys, in May, when they are full grown and tender, put them in a liquor made of half Vinegar and Water, and some Salt; put no more upon them than what will but just cover them; set them upon hot embers, but let them not boyl; stir them often, and they will be first yellow; keep them stirred untill they be green, then take them out, and lay them abroad upon a board till they be cold, then put them up in fresh Vinegar and Salt with a piece of Allum: cover the Crock close, with a weight upon it. It is a very wholesom Sallet, they provoke Urine, strengthen and restore a decayed nature; are are good against the stone and gravel, and good for the liver and spleen.

In the same manner you may pickle Sam-pier.

To pickle Cucumbers.

WIpe them clean, then put them in a brine made of Water and Salt, strong enough to bear an Egg; let them lye therein twelve hours, then take them out and wipe them dry, then put them into the Crock, having first laid a lay of Dill, a little Mace and white Pepper whole, then lay a lay of Cucumbers upon that, and then a lay of Dill, Mace and Pepper; and so continue till you have put in all your Cucumbers, then boyl your Vinegar, which if it be too strong, you may put to it a third part of water, pour it boyling-hot upon the Cucumbers; cover them close for two days, then pour off the Vinegar, and boyl it again, and scum it, and pour it upon them again boyling-hot; do this three or four times. Then put in a piece of Allum, and stop it close to keep out the Air, and they will be as green as grass, and very crisp; thus several Ladies do them.

To pickle Cucumbers the usual way as Oyl-Men do them.

WIpe them very clean, then take Dill and Fennel, whereof lay a lay at the bottom of your Jarr, then a lay of Cucumbers, then a lay of Dill and Fennel; do this untill all your Cucumbers be laid. Then take Vinegar, and boyl it with so much Salt that it may bear an Egg, in which dissolve also a little piece of Allum, and some Ginger in gross powder, white Pepper, Coriander-seed, Dill-seed, Carraway-seed, Cloves, pour this pickle hot upon the Cucumbers, and stop up the Vessel close, and close all the joints with wax or rosin. About a Month or six weeks draw off the pickle, and boyl it and scum it, and pour it hot again upon the Cucumbers; stop it close as before, so will they keep long, and be green and crisp: If they be not green enough, you may boyl the pickle again, as before, and pour it hot upon the Cucumbers. Five hundred Cucumbers will require two Gallons and half of Vinegar, an ounce and half of Allum, one ounce of Ginger, half an ounce of Pepper, and as much Dill-seed, Coriander, and Carraway-seed.

I have been told by an Oyl-man who had given over his Trade, that they used to put into a Farr when the Cucumbers were pickled, some drops of Oyl of Spike, which he said would make them very green. And so the pickle needed not to be boyled again.

To preserve or pickle Cucumbers another way.

TAke five hundred Cucumbers, wipe them clean, and lay them with Dill and Fennel as aforesaid; to which put the following pickle: Take white Wine Vinegar two Gallons, a strong Brine that will bear an Egg two quarts; Bay-leaves, Thyme and Wall-nut-tree-leaves, of each half a handful, Ginger in gross powder, Dill-seed, Coriander-seed, and Caraway-seed, bruised, of each three quarters of an ounce, white Pepper bruised, half an ounce, Cloves and Mace of each half a dram, boyl all these together, and let them stand untill they are almost cold; then put it to the Cucumbers, and they will be good to eat in a few days. After a fortnight or three Weeks the pickle must be taken out and boyled, scummed, and put in again.

There is nothing more convenient for the pickling of Cucumbers, than an earthen stean that hath a tap-hole near the bottom of it, to put a Brass Cock or Cane in it, whereby to draw off the pickle, when it is to be boyled again.

Broom-buds are pickled in the same manner as Asphenkeys or Sampier, and they are very wholesome, and good against the Scurvey and Dropsie, and for the Spleen, &c.

To keep Quinces raw all the year.

TAKE some of the worst Quinces, and cut them into small pieces, and coars and parings, boyl them in water, and put to a gallon of water, some three spoonfulls of Salt, as much Honey; boyl these together till they are very strong, and when it is cold, put it into half a pint of Vinegar in a wooden Vessel or earthen pot, and take then as many of your best Quinces as will go into your Liquor, then stop them up very close, that no Air get into them, and they will keep all the year.

To

To make a Gooseberry Fool.

TAKE your Gooseberries, and put them in a Silver or Earthen Pot, and set it in a skillet of boyling water, and when they are codled enough, strain them, then make them hot again, when they are scalding hot, beat them very well with a good piece of fresh Butter, Rose-water and Sugar, and put in the yolks of two or three Eggs; you may put Rose-water into them, and so stir it altogether, and serve it to the Table when it is cold.

To make an Oatmeal Pudding.

TAKE a Porringer full of Oatmeal beaten to flower, a pint of Cream, one Nutmeg, four Eggs beaten, three whites, a quarter of a pound of Sugar, a pound of Beef-suet well minced, mingle all these together, and so bake it. An hour will bake it.

To make a green Pudding.

TAKE a penny Loaf of stale bread, grate it, put to half a pound of Sugar grated, Nutmeg, as much Salt as will season it, three quarters of a pound of Beef-suet shred very very small : then take sweet herbs, the most of them Marrigolds, eight Spinages; shred the Herbs very small, mix all well together, then take two Eggs and work them up together with your hand and make them into round Balls, and when the water boyls put them in, serve them with Rose-water, Sugar, and Butter, or Sauce.

To make good Sausages.

TAKE the lean of a Leg of Pork, and four pound of Beef-suet, or rather Butter, shred them together very small, then season it with three quarters of an ounce of Pepper, and half an ounce of Cloves and Mace mixced together, as the Pepper is, a handful of Sage when it is chopt small, and as much Salt as you think will make them taste well of it; mingle all these with the Meat, then break in ten Eggs, all but two or three of the whites, then temper it all well with your hands, and fill it into Hogs guts, which you must have ready for them, you must tye the ends of them like puddings, and when you eat them you must boyl them on a soft fire; a hot will crack the skin, and the goodness boyl out of them.

To

To make Toasts.

CUT two penny loaves in round slices, and dip them in half a pint of Cream or cold water, then lay them abroad in a dish, and beat three Eggs and grated Nutmeg, and Sugar, beat them with the Cream, then take your frying-pan and melt some Butter in it, and wet one side of your Toasts, and lay them in on the wet side, then pour in the rest upon them, and so fry them; send them in with Rose-water, Butter and Sugar.

Spannish Cream.

PUT hot water in a Bucket, and go with it to the Milking, then pour out the water, and instantly milk into it, and presently strain it into milk-pans of an ordinary fulness, but not after an ordinary way; for you must set your pans on the ground and stand on a stool, and pour it forth that it may rise in bubbles with the fall; this on the Morrow will be a very tough Cream, which you must take off with your skimmer, and lay it in the dish, laying upon laying; and if you please strew some Sugar between them.

To

To make Clouted Cream.

TAke four quarts of new Milk, one of Cream, six spoonfuls of Rosewater, put these together in a great earthen Milk-pan, set it upon a fire of Charcoal well kindled, you must be sure the fire be not too hot; then let it stand a day and night; and when you go to take it off, loose the edge of your Cream round about with a Knife, then take your Board, and lay the edges that is left beside the bord cut into many pieces, and put them into the dish first, and scrape some fine Sugar upon them, then take your board, and take off your Cream as clean from the Milk as you can, and lay it upon your dish, and if your dish be little, there will be some left, the which you may put into what fashion you please, and scrape good store of Sugar upon it.

A good Cream.

WHen you Churn Butter, take out six spoonfuls of Cream, just as it is to turn to Butter, that is, when it is a little frothy; then boyl good Cream as much as will make a Dish, and season it with Sugar, and

and a little Rosewater; when it is quite cold enough, mingle it very well with that you take out of the Churn, and so dish it.

To make Pyramidis Cream.

TAke a quart of water, and six ounces of Harts-horn, and put it into a Bottle with Gum-Dragon, and Gum-Arabick, of each as much as a small Nut, put all this into the Bottle, which must be so big as will hold a pint more; for if it be full it will break: stop it very well with a Cork, and tye a cloth about it, put the bottle into a pot of Beef when it is boyling, and let it boyl three hours, then take as much Cream as there is gelly, and half a pound of Almonds well beaten with Rose-water, so that you cannot discern what they be, mingle the Cream and the Almonds together, then strain it, and do so two or three times to get all you can out of the Almonds, then put gelly when it is cold into a silver Basin, and the Cream to it; sweeten it as you like, put in two or three grains of Musk and Amber-greece, set it over the fire, stirring it continually and skimming it, till it be seething hot, but let it not boyl, then put it into an old fashioned drinking-Glass, and let it stand till it is cold, and when you will use it, hold your Clasp in a warm hand, and loosen it with a Knife, and whelm it into a dish, and have in readiness Pine-Apple blown, and stick it all over, and serve it in with Cream or without, as you please.
P cold,

To make a Sack Cream.

SET a quart of Cream on the fire, when it is boyled, drop in a spoonful of Sack, and stir it well the while, that it curd not, so do till you have dropped in six spoonfuls, then season it with Sugar, Nutmeg, and strong water.

To boyl Pidgeons.

STuff the Pidgeons with Parsley and Butter, and put them into an Earthen Pot, and put some sweet Butter to them, and let them boyl; take Parsly, Thyme, and Rosemary, chop them and put them to them; take some sweet Butter, and put in withall some Spinage, take a little gross Pepper and Salt, and season it withall, then take the yolk of an Egg and strain it with Verjuice, and put to them, lay sippits in the dish, and serve it.

To make an Apple Tinsley.

PARE your Apples, and cut them in thin round slices, then fry them in good sweet Butter, then take ten Eggs, sweet Cream, Nutmeg, Cinnamon, Ginger, Sugar, with a little Rose-water, beat all these together, and pour it upon your Apples, and fry it.

The French Barley Cream.

TAKE a quart of Cream, and boyl in a Porringer of French Barley, that hath been boyled in nine waters, put in some large Mace and a little Cinnamon, boyling it a quarter of an hour; then take two quarts of Almonds blanch'd, and beat it very small with Rose-water, or Orange water, and some Sugar; and the Almonds being strained into the Liquor, put it over the fire, stirring it till it be ready to boyl, then take it off the fire, stirring it till it be half cold; then put to it two spoonfuls of Sack or white-Wine, and when it is cold, serve it in, remembering to put in some salt.

To make a Chicken, or Pygeon Pye.

TAKE your Pygeons (if they be not very young) cut them into four quarters, one sweet-bread sliced the long way, that it may be thin, and the pieces not too big, one sheeps-tongue, little more than par-boyled, and the skin pulled off, and the tongue cut in slices, two or three slices of Veal, as much of Mutton, young Chickens (if not little) quarter them, Chick-heads, Lark, or any such like, Pullets, Cocks-combs, Oysters, Calves Udder cut in pieces, good store of Marrow; for seasoning, take as much Pepper and Salt as you think fit to season it slightly; good store of sweet Marjoram, a little Thyme, and Lemon-peel fine sliced, season it well with these Spices as the time of the year will afford; put in either of Chesnuts (if you put in Chesnuts, they must first be either boyled or roasted) Gooseberries or Guage, large Mace will do well in this pye, then take a little piece of Veal parboyled, and slice it very fine, as much Marrow as meat stirred amongst it, then take grated Bread; as much as a quarter of the meat, four yolks of Eggs, or more according to the fluff you make, shred Dates as small as may be, season it with

with Salt, but not too Salt, Nutmeg as much as will season it, sweet Marjoram pretty store very small shred, work it up with as much sweet Cream as will make it up in little Puddings, some long, some round, so put as many of them in the Pye as you please; put therein two or three spoonfuls of Gravy of Mutton, or so much strong Mutton broth before you put it in the Oven, the bottom of boyled Artichoks, minced Marrow, over and in the bottom of the Pye after your Pye is baked; when you put it up, have some five yolks of Eggs minced, and the juyce of two or three Oranges, the meat of one Lemon cut in pieces, a little white and Claret Wine; put this in your Pye being well mingled, and shake it very well together.

To boyl a Capon or Hen.

TAKE a young Capon or Hen, when you draw them, take out the fall of the kaf clean away, and being well washed, fill the belly with Oysters; prepare some Mutton, the Neck, but boyl it in small pieces, and skim it well, then put your Capon into the Pipkin, and when it is boyled skim it again; be sure you have no more water, than will cover your meat, then put it into a pint of P 3 white-

white-Wine, some Mace, two or three Cloves, and whole Pepper; a quarter of an hour before your meat be boyled enough out into the Pipkin three Anchoves stript from the bones and washed, and be sure you put Salt at the first to your Meat; a little Parsly, Spinage, Endive, Sorrel, Rosemary, or such kind of Herbs, will do well to boyl with the broth, and being ready to dish it, having sippets cut, then take the Oysters out of the Capon, and lay them in the Dish with the broth, and put some juyce of Lemons and Oranges into it according to your taste.

To make Balls of Veal.

TAke the lean of a leg of Veal, and cut out the Sinews, mince it very small, and with it some fat of Beef-suet; if the Leg of Veal be of a Cow-Calf, the Udder will be good instead of Beef-suet; when it is very well beaten together with the mincing Knife, have some Cloves, Mace, and Pepper beaten, and with Salt season your Meat, putting in some Vinegar, then make up your Meat into little Balls, and having very good strong broth made of Mutton, set your Balls to boyl in it; when they are boyled enough, take the yolks of five or six Eggs well well beaten, with as much Vinegar as you please to like, and some of the broth mingled together, stir it into all your Balls and broth, give it a warm on the fire, then dish up the Balls upon Sippets, and pour the Sauce on it.

To make Mrs. Shellyes Cake.

TAke a peck of fine flower, and three pound of the Best Butter, work your flower and Butter very well together, then take ten Eggs, leave out six whites, a pint and a half of Ale-yeast; beat the Eggs and yeast together, and put them to the flower; take six pound of blanched Almonds, beat them very well, putting in sometime Rose-water to keep them from Oyling, add what Spice you please: let this be put to the rest, with a quarter of a pint of Sack and a little Saffron; and when you have made all this into paste, cover it warm before the fire, and let it rise for half an hour, then put in twelve pound of Currans well washed and dried, two pound of Raisins of the Sun stoned and cut small, one pound of Sugar; the sooner you put it into the Oven after the fruit is put in, the better.

To make Almond Fumbals.

TAKE a pound of Almonds to half a pound of double refined Sugar beaten and searfed, lay your Almonds in water a day before you blanch them, and beat them small with your Sugar; and when it is beat very small, put in a handful of Gum-Dragon, it being before over night steeped in Rose-water, and half a white of an Egg beaten to froth, and half a spoonful of Coriander-seed, as many Fennil and Anniseeds, mingle these together very well, set them upon a soft fire till it grow pretty thick, then take it off the fire, and lay it upon a clean Paper, and beat it well with a rowling-pin till it work like a soft paste, and so make them up, and lay them upon Papers oyled with Oyl of Almonds, then put them in your Oven, and so soon as they be thoroughly risen, take them out before they grow hard.

To make Cracknels.

TAKE half a pound of fine flower, dried and searfed, as much fine Sugar searfed, mingled with a spoonful of Coriander seed bruised, half a quarter of a pound of Butter rubbed in the Flower and Sugar, then then wet it with the yolks of two Eggs, and half a spoonful of white Rose-water, a spoonful or little more of Cream as will wet it; knead the paste till it be soft and limber to rowl well, then rowl it extream thin, and cut them round by little plates, lay them upon buttered Papers, and when they go into the Oven, prick them, and wash the top with the yolk of an Egg beaten, and made thin with Rose-water or fair water; they will give with keeping, therefore before they are eaten, they must be dried in a warm Oven, to make them crisp.

To Pickle Oysters.

TAKE Oysters and wash them clean in their own Liquor, then let them settle, then strain it, and put your Oysters to it with a little Mace and whole Pepper, as much Salt as you please, and a little White-Vinegar, then set them over the fire, and let them boyl leisurely till they are pretty tender; be sure to skim them still as the skim riseth; when they are enough, take them out till the pickle be cold, then put them into any pot that will lye close, they will keep best in Caper-barrels, they will keep very well six weeks.

To boyl Cream with Codlings.

TAKE a quart of Cream and boyl it with some Mace and Sugar, and take two yolks of Eggs, and beat them well with a spoonful of Rose-water and a grain of Ambergreece, then put it into the Cream with a piece of Sweet Butter as big as a Walnut, and stir it together over the fire untill it be ready to boyl, then set it some time to cool, stirring it continually till it is cold; then take a quarter of a pound of Codlings strained, and put them into a silver dish over a few coals till they be almost dry, and being cold, and the Cream also, pour the Cream upon them, and let them stand on a soft fire covered an hour, then serve them in.

To make the Lady Albergravers Cheefe.

TO one Cheefe take a Gallon of new Milk, and a pint of good Cream, and mix them well together, then take a skil-let of hot water, as much as will make it hotter than it comes from the Cow, then put in a spoonfull of Rennet, and stir it well together, and cover it, and when it is come, take a wet cloth and lay it on your Cheefe-Mot, and take up the Curd and not break it,

it, and put it into your Mot; and when your Mot is full, lay on your Suiker, and every two hours turn your Cheefe in wet Cloaths wrung dry; and lay on a little more wet, at night take as much Salt as you can between your Finger and Thumb, and salt your Cheefe on both sides; let them lye in Presses all night in a wet cloth; the next day lay them on the Table between a dry cloth, the next day lay them in Grass, and every other day change your grass, they will be ready to eat in nine dayes: if you will have them ready sooner, cover them with a Blanket.

To dress Snails.

TAKE your Snails, (they are no way so as in Pottage) and wash them well in many waters, and when you have done, put them in a white earthen Pan, or a very wide dish, and put as much water to them as will cover them, and then set your dish or pan on some coals, that it may heat by little and little, and then the Snails will come out of the shells, and so dye, and being dead, take them out, and wash them very well in water and Salt twice or thrice over; then put them in a Pipkin with water and Salt, and let them boyl a little while in that, so take away the rude slime they have, then take them

them out again and put them in a Cullender; then take excellent Sallad Oyl, and beat it a great while upon the fire in a frying-pan, and when it boyls very fast, slice two or three Onions in it, and let them fry well, then put the Snails in the Oyl, and Onions, and let them stew together a little, then put the Oyl, Onions, and Snails altogether in an earthen Pipkin of a fit size for your Snails, and put as much warm water to them as will serve to boyl them, and make the Pottage, and season them with Salt, and so let them boyl three or four hours; then mingle Parsley, Penny-royal, Fennil, Thyme, and such herbs, and when they are minced put them in a Mortar, and beat them as you do for Green-Sauce, put in some crumbs of Bread soaked in the Pottage of the Snails, and then dissolve it all in the Mortar, with a little Saffron and Cloves well beaten, and put in as much Pottage into the Mortar, as will make the Spice and Bread and Herbs like thickning for a Pot, so put them all into the Snails, and let them stew in it, and when you serve them up, you may squeez into the Pottage, a Lemon, and put in a little Vinegar, or if you put in a Clove of Garlick among the Herbs, and beat it with them in the Mortar, it will not taste the worse; serve them up in a Dish.

Dish with Sippits of Bread in the bottom. The Pottage is very nourishing, and they use them that are apt to a Consumption.

To boyl a Rump of Beef after the French Fashion.

TAKE a Rump of Beef, or the little end of the Brisket, and parboyl it half an hour, then take it up and put it in a deep dish, then slash it in the side, that the gravy may come out, then throw a little Pepper and Salt between every cut, then fill up the dish with the best Claret Wine, and put to it three or four pieces of large Mace, and set it on the Coals close covered, and boyl it above an hour and a half, but turn it often in the mean time; then with a spoon take off the Fat and fill it with Claret Wine, and slice six Onions, and a handful of Capers or Broom-buds, half a dozen of hard Lettice sliced, three spoonfuls of Wine-Vinegar, and as much Verjuyce, and then set it a boyling with these things in it till it be tender, and serve it up with brown bread and Sippets fryed with Butter, but be sure there be not too much Fat in it when you serve it.

An excellent way of dressing of Fish.

TAKE a piece of fresh Salmon, and wash it clean in a little Vinegar and Water, and let it lye a while in it, in a great Pipkin with a Cover, and put to it six spoonfuls of water, and four of Vinegar, as much of white-Wine, a good deal of Salt, a bundle of sweet Herbs, a little whole Spice, a few Cloves, a little stick of Cinnamon, a little Mace; Take up all these in a Pipkin close, and set it in a Kettle of seething water, and there let it stew three hours. You may do Carps, Eeles, Trouts, &c. this way, alter the taste to your mind.

To make Fritters of Sheeps Feet.

TAKE your Sheeps feet, slit them, and set them a stewing in a silver dish, with a little strong Broth and Salt, with a stick of Cinnamon, two or three Cloves, and a piece of an Orange peell: when they are stewed, take them from the liquor and lay them upon a Pye-plate cooling: when they are cold, have some good Fritter-batter made with Sack, and dip them therein: then have ready to fry them, some excellent Clarified Butter very hot in the Pan, and fry them therein; when when they are fryed, wring in the juyce of three or four Oranges, and toss them once or twice in a dish, and so serve them to the Table.

To make dry Salmon Calvert in the boyling.

TAKE a gallon of water, put to it a quart of Wine or Vinegar, Verjuice of four Beer, and a few sweet Herbs and Salt, and let your Liquor boyle extream fast, and hold your Salmon by the Tail, and dip it in, and let it have a walm, and so dip it in and out a dozen times, and that will make your Salmon Calvert, and so boyl it till it be tender.

To make Bisket Bread.

TAKE a pound of Sugar searsetl very fine, and a pound of flower well dryed, and twelve Eggs, a handful of Carraway-seed, six whites of Eggs, a very little Salt, beat all these together, and keep them with beating till you set them in the Oven, then put them into your Plates or Tin things, and take Butter, and put into a Cloth and rub your Plate; a spoonful into a Plate is enough, and so set them into the Oven, and let your Oven be no hotter than to bake small Pyes; if your flower flower be not dryed in the Oven before, they will be heavy.

To make an Almond Pudding.

TAKE your Almonds when they are blanched, and beat as many as will serve for your dish, then put to it four or five yolks of Eggs, Rose-water, Nutmegs, Cloves and Mace, a little Sugar, and a little Salt and Marrow cut into it, and so set it into the Oven, but your Oven must not be hotter than for Bisket Bread: and when it is half baked, take the white of an Egg, Rose-water and fine Sugar well beaten together and very thick, and do it over with a feather, and set it in again, then stick it over with Almonds, and so send it up.

This you may boyl in a bag if you please, and put in a few crumbs of Bread into it, and eat it with Butter and Sugar without Marrow.

To make an Almond Caudle.

TAKE three pints of Ale, boyl it with Cloves and Mace, and sliced Bread in it, then have ready beaten a pound of Almonds blanched, and strain them out with a pint of white-Wine, and thicken the Ale with it, sweeten it if you please, and be sure you skim him the Ale well when it boyleth.

To make Almond Bread.

TAKE Almonds and lay them in water all night, then blanch them and slice them, to every pound of Almonds, a pound of fine Sugar finely beaten, so mingle them together, then beat the whites of three Eggs to high froth, and mix it well with the Almonds and Sugar, then have some plates and strew some flower on them, and lay Wafers on them, and lay your Almonds with the Edges upwards, lay them as round as you can, scrape a little Sugar on them, when they are ready to set in the Oven, which must not be so hot as to colour white Paper, and when they are a little baked, take them out, and take them from the Plates, and set them in again, you must keep them in a Stove.

To make Almond Cakes.

TAKE half a pound of Almonds blanched in cold water, beat them with some Rose-water till they do not glister, then they will be beaten, if you think fit, lay lay seven or eight Musque Comfits dissolved in Rose-water, which must not be above six or seven spoonfuls, for fear of spoyling the colour; when they be thus beaten, put in half a pound of Sugar finely sifted, beat them and the Almonds together till it be well mixed, then take the whites of two Eggs, and two spoonfuls of fine flower that hath been dried in an Oven; beat these well together, and pour it to your Almonds, then butter your Plates, and dust your Cakes with sugar and flower, and when they are a little brown, draw them, and when the Oven is colder, set them in again on brown Papers, and they will look whiter.

Master Rudstone's Possie.

TAke a pint of Sack, a quarter of a pint of Ale, three quarters of a pound of sugar, boyl all these well together, take two yolks of Eggs and sixteen whites very well beaten, put this to your boyling Sack, and slice it very well together till it be thick on the coals; then take three pints of Milk or Cream, being boyled to a quart, it must stand and cool till the Eggs thicken, put it to your Sack and Eggs, and stir them well together, then cover it with a plate, and so serve it.

To

To boyl a Capon with Ranieles.

TAke a good young Capon, truss it and draw it to boyl, and parboyl it a little, then let it lie in fair water, being picked very clean and white, then boyl it in strong Broth while it be enough, but first prepare your Ranieles as followeth; Take a good quantity of Beet-leaves, and boyl them in water very tender, then take them out, and get all the water very clean out of them, then take six sweet-Breads of Veal, and boyl and mince them white, mince them small, and then boyl herbs also, and four or five Marrow-bones, break them and get all the Marrow out of them, and boyl the bigger piece of them in water by it self, and put the other into the minced Herbs, then take half a pound of Raisins of the Sun stoned, and mince them small, and half a pound of Dates, the skin off, and mince them also, and a quarter of a pound of Pomecitron minced small, then take of Naples-Bisket a good quantity, and put all these together on a Charger or a great dish, with half a pound of sweet Butter, and work it together with your hands, as you do a piece of Paste, and season it with a little Nutmeg, Ginger, Cinnamon, and Salt, and Permasant

fant Cheese grated, with hard Sugar grated also, then mingle all together well, and make a Paste with the finest flower, six yolks of Eggs, a little Saffron beaten small, half a pound of sweet Butter, a little Salt, with some fair water hot (not boyling) and make up your Paste, then drive out a long sheet of Paste with an even rowling-pin as thin as possibly you can, and lay your ingredients in small heaps, round or long which you please in the Paste, then cover them with the Paste, and cut them with a jag asunder, and so make more and more, till you have made two hundred or more, then have a good broad Pan or Kettle half full of strong Broth, boyling leisurely, and put in your Ransoles, one by one, and let them boyl a quarter of an hour, then take up your Capon, lay it in a great dish, and put on the Ransoles, and strew on them grated Cheese, Naples-Bisket grated, Cinnamon and Sugar, then more and more Cinnamon and Cheese, while you have filled your dish; then put softly on melted Butter with a little strong Broth, your Marrow, Potmectron, Lemons sliced, and serve it up, and put it into the dish, so Ransoles may be part fryed with sweet but Clarified Butter, either a quarter of them, or half, as you please; if the Butter

Butter be not Clarified, it will spoyl your Ransoles.

To make a Bisque of Carps.

TAKE twelve small Carps, and one great one, all Male Carps, draw them and take out all the Melts, flea the twelve small Carps, cut off their heads, and take out their Tongues, and take the fish from the bones of the flead Carps, and twelve Oysters, two or three yolks of hard Eggs, mash all together, season it with Cloves, Mace and Salt, and make thereof a stiff scarse: add thereto the yolks of four or five eggs to bind it, fashion that first into balls or lopings as you please, lay them into a deep dish or earthen pan, and put thereto twenty or thirty great Oysters, two or three Anchoves, the Melts and Tongues of your twelve Carps, half a pound of fresh Butter, the Liquor of your Oysters, the juyce of a Lemon or two; a little white-Wine, some of Corbillion wherein your great Carp is boyled, and a whole Onion, so set them a stewing on a soft fire, and make a hoop therewith; for the great Carp you must scald him and draw him, lay him for half an hour, with the other Carps heads, in a deep pan with so much white-Wine-Vinegar

Vinegar as will cover and serve to boyl him and the other heads in; put therein Pepper, whole Mace, a race of Ginger; Nutmeg, Salt, sweet Herbs, an Onion or two sliced, a Lemon; when you boyl your Carps, pour your Liquor with the Spice into the Kettle wherein you will boyl him; when it is boyled put in your Carp, let it not boyl too fast for breaking; after the Carp hath boyled a while, put in the Head, when it is enough, take off the Kettle, and let the Carps and the Heads keep warm in the Liquor till you go to dish them. When you dress your Bisque, take a large silver dish, set it on the fire, lay therein Sippets of Bread, then put in a Ladleful of your Corbillon, then take up your great Carp, and lay him in the midst of the Dish, then range the twelve Heads about the Carp, then lay the scarse of the Carp, lay that in, then your Oysters, Milts, and Tongues, then pour on the Liquor wherein the scarse was boyled, wring in the juyce of a Lemon, and two Oranges; Garnish your dish with pickled Barberries, Lemons and Oranges, and serve it very hot to the Table.

To

To boyl a Pike and Eel together.

TAke a quart of white-wine, and a pint and a half of white-Wine-Vinegar, two quarts of Water, and almost a pint of Salt, a handful of Rosemary and Thyme; the Liquor must boyl before you put in your Fish and Herbs; the Eel with the skin must be put in a quarter of an hour before the Pike, with a little large Mace, and twenty corns of Pepper.

To make an out-landish Dish.

TAke the Liver of an Hogg, and cut it in small pieces about the bigness of a Span, then take Anniseed, or French seed, Pepper and Salt, and season them therewithall, and lay every piece severally round in the Caul of the Hogg, and so roast them on a Bird-spit.

To make a Portugal Dish.

TAke the Guts, Gizard and Liver of two fat Capons, cut away the Galls from the Liver, and make clean the Gizards, and put them into a dish of clean water, slit the Guts as you do a Calves Chauldron, but take

take off none of the fat, then lay the guts about an hour in white-Wine, as the Guts soak, half boyl Gizards and Livers, then take a long wooden broach, and spit your Gizards and Livers thereon, but not close one to another, then take and wipe the Guts somewhat dry in a Cloath, and season them with Salt and beaten Pepper, Cloves and Mace, then wind the Guts upon the wooden Broach about the Liver, and Gizards, then tye the wooden Broach to spin, and lay them to the fire to roast, and roast them very brown, and baste them not at all till they be enough, then take the Gravy of Mutton, the juyce of two or three Oranges, and a grain of Saffron, mix all well together, and with a spoon baste your Roast, let it drop in to the same dish. Then draw it, and serve it to the Table with the same Sauce;

To dress a dish of Artichokes.

TAKE and boyl them in a Beef-Pot, when they are tender sodden, take off the tops, leaving the bottoms with some round about them, then put them into a dish, put some fair water to them, two or three spoonfuls of Sack, a spoonful of Sugar, and so let them boyl upon the Coals, still pouring on the Liquor to give it a good taste, when they have have boyled half an hour, take the Liquor from them, and make ready some Cream boyled and thickned with the yolk of an Egg or two, whole Mace, Salt and Sugar, with some lumps of Marrow, boyl it in the Cream, when it is boyled put a good piece of sweet Butter into it, and toast some Toasts, and lay them under your Artichokes, and pour your Cream and Butter on them, Garnish it, &c.

To dress a Fillet of Veal the Italian way.

TAKE a young tender Fillet of Veal, pick away all the skins in the fold of the flesh, after you have picked it out clean, so that no skins are left, nor any hard thing, put to it some good white-Wine (that is not too sweet) in a bowl and wash it, and crush it well in the Wine, do so twice, then strew upon it a powder that is called Tamara in Italy, and so much Salt as will season it well, mingle the Powder well upon the Parts of your meat, then pour to it so much white-Wine as will cover it when it is thrust down into a narrow pan; lay a Trencher on it, and a weight to keep it down; let it lye two nights and one day; put a little Pepper to it when you lay it in the Souce, and after it is souced so long, take it out, and put it into a
Q Pipkin

Pipkin with some good Beef-broth, but you must not take any of the Pickle to it, but only Beef-broth that is sweet and not Salt; cover it close and set it on the Embers, only put into it with the broth a few whole Cloves and Mace, and let it stew till it be enough. It will be very tender, and of an excellent taste; it must be served with the same broth as much as will cover it.

To make the Italian, take Coriander-seed two Ounces, Anniseed one ounce, Fennil-seed one ounce, Cloves two ounces, Cinnamon one ounce; these must be beaten into a gross powder, putting into it a little powder of Winter-Savoury; if you like it, keep this in a Vial-glass stopt for your use.

To dress Soals.

Take a pair of Soals, lard them enough with watred fresh Salmon, then lay your Soals on a Table, or Pye-plate, cut your Salmon, lard all of an equal length on each side, and leave the Lard but short, then flower the Soal, and fry them in the best Ale you can get, when they are fryed lay them on a warm Pye-plate, and so serve them to the Table with a Sallet-dish full of Anchovy-sauce, and three or four Oranges.

To

To make Frumity.

Take a quart of Cream, a quarter of a pound of French Barley, the whitest you can get, and boyl it very tender in three or four several waters, and let it be cold, then put both together, put into it a blade of Mace, a Nutmeg cut in quarters, a Race of Ginger cut in four or five pieces, and so let it boyl a good while, still stirring, and season it with Sugar to your taste, then take the yolks of four Eggs and beat them with a little Cream, and stir them into it, and so let it boyl a little after the Eggs are in, then have ready blanched and beaten twenty Almonds kept from boyling, with a little Rosewater, then take a boulter strainer, and rub your Almonds with a little of your Frumity through the strainer, but set on the fire no more, and stir in a little Salt and a little sliced Nutmeg, pick out of the great pieces of it, and put it in a dish, and serve it.

To make Patis, or Cabbage Cream.

Take thirty Ale-pints of new Milk, and set it on the fire in a Kettle till it be scalding hot, stirring it oft to keep it from creaming, then put it forth into thirty

Q 2

Pans

Pans of Earth, as you put it forth, take off the bubbles with a spoon, let it stand till it be cold, then take off the Cream with two such slices as you beat Bisket Bread with, but they must be very thin, and not too broad, then when the Milk is dropped off the Cream, you must lay it upon a Pye-plate, you must scour the Kettle very clean, and heat the Milk again, and so four or five times. In the Lay of it, first lay a stalk in the midst of the Plate, let the rest of the Cream be laid upon that sloping, between every laying you must scrape Sugar and sprinkle Rose-water, and if you will, the powder of Musk, and Ambergreece, in the heating of the Milk, be careful of smok.

To make Pap.

TAKE three quarts of new Milk, set it on the fire in a dry silver dish, or bason; when it begins to boyl skim it, then put thereto a handful of flower, the yolks of three Eggs, which you must have well mingled together with a Ladle full of cold Milk before you put to it the Milk that boyls, and as it boyls, stir it all the while till it be enough, and in the boyling season it with a little Salt, and a little fine beaten Sugar, and so keeping it stirred till it be boyled as thick

thick as you desire, then put it forth into another dish, and serve it up.

To make Spanish Pap.

TAKE three spoonfuls of Rice-flower finely beaten and searled, two yolks of Eggs, three spoonfuls of Sugar, three or four spoonfuls of Rose-water. Temper these four together, then put them to a pint of Cream, then set it on the fire, and keep it stired till it come to a reasonable thickness, then dish it and serve it up.

To Poach Eggs.

TAKE a dozen of new laid Eggs, and flesh of four or five Partridges, or other, mince it so small as you can season it with a few beaten Cloves, Mace and Nutmeg, into a silver dish, with a Ladleful or two of the Gravy of Mutton, wherein two or three Anchoves are dissolved; then set it a stewing on a fire of Charcoals, and after it is half stewed, as it boyls, break in your Eggs one by one, and as you break them, pour away most part of the whites, and with one end of your Egg-shell, make a place in your dish of meat, and therein put the yolks of your Eggs, round in order amongst your meat,

meat, and so let them stew till your Eggs be enough, then grate in a little Nutmeg and the juyce of a couple of Oranges; have a care none of the seeds go in, wipe your Dish, and garnish your Dish with four or five whole Onions, &c.

A Pottage of Beef-Pallates.

TAKE Beef Pallates after they be boyled tender in the Beef Kettle or Pot among some other meat, blanch and serve them clean, then cut each Pallat in two, and set them a stewing between two dishes with a piece of leer Bacon, an handful of Champignons, five or six sweet-breads of Veal, a Ladle full or two of strong broth, and as much Gravy of Mutton, an Onion or two, five or six Cloves, and a blade or two of Mace, and a piece of Orange Peell; as your Pallates stew make ready your Dish with the bottoms and tops of two or three Cheat Loves, dried and moistned with some Gravy of Mutton, and the broth your Pallats stew in, you must have the Marrow of two or three Beef-bones stewed in a little broth between two dishes, in great pieces; when your Pallates and Marrow is stewed, and you ready to Dish it, take out all the Spices, Onion and Bacon, and lay it in your Plates, sweet-bread, bread, and Champigneons, pour in the Broth they were stewed in, and lay on your pieces of Marrow, wring the juyce of two or three Oranges; and so serve it to the Table very hot.

The Jacobins Pottage.

TAKE the flesh of a hashed Capon or Turkey cold, mince it small as you can, then grate or scrape among the flesh two or three ounces of Parmasant, or cold Holland Cheese; season it with beaten Cloves, Nutmeg, Mace and Salt; then take the bottoms and tops of four or five new Rowls, dry them before the fire, or in an Oven, then put them into a fair silver Dish, set it upon the fire, wet your bread in a Ladleful of strong Broth, and a Ladlefull of Gravy of Mutton, then strew in your minced meat all of an equal thickness in each place, then stick twelve or eighteen pieces of Marrow as big as Walnuts, and pour on an handful of pure Gravy of Mutton, then cover your Dish close, and as it stews add now and then some Gravy of Mutton thereto, thrust your Knife sometimes to the bottom, to keep the bread from sticking to the dish, let it so stew still, till you are ready to dish it away, and when you serve it, if need require,

require, and more gravy of Mutton, wring the juyce of two or three Oranges, wipe your dishes brims, and serve it to the Table in the same dish.

To Salt a Goose.

TAke a fat Goose and bone him, but leave the brest bone, wipe him with a clean cloth, then salt him one fortnight, then hang him up for one fortnight or three weeks, then boyl him in running water very tender, and serve him with Bay-leaves.

A way of stewing Chickens or Rabbits.

TAke two, three, or four Chickens, and let them be about the bigness of a Partridge, boyl them till they be half boyled enough, then take them off, and cut them into little pieces, putting the joynt bones one from another, and let not the meat be minced, but cut into great bits, not so exactly, but more or less, the breast bones are not so proper to be put in, but put the meat together with the other bones (upon which there must also be some meat remaining) into a good quantity of that water or broth wherein the Chickens were boyled, and set it then over a Chafin-dish of Coals between two dishes, dishes, that so it may stew on till it be fully enough; but first season it with Salt and gross Pepper, and afterwards add Oyl to it, more or less according to the goodness thereof: and a little before you take it from the fire, you must add such a quantity of juyce of Lemons as may best agree with your taste. This makes an excellent dish of meat which must be served up in the Liquer; and though for a need it may be made with Butter instead of Oyl, and with Vinegar instead of juyce of Lemons, yet is the other incomparably better for such as are not enemies to Oyl. The same dish may be made also of Veal, or Partridge, or Rabbits, and indeed the best of them all is Rabbits, if they be used so before Michaelmas, for afterwards methinks they grow rank; for though they be fatter, yet the flesh is more hard and dry.

A Pottage of Capons.

TAke a couple of young Capons, truss, and set them and fill their bellies with Marrow, put them into a Pipkin with a Knuckle of Veal, a Neck of Mutton, and a Marrow-bone, and some sweet-bread of Veal; season your broth with Cloves, Mace, and a little Salt, set it to the fire, and let it boyl gently till your Capons be enough, but boyl them not too much; as your Capons boyl; make ready the bottoms and tops of eight or ten new Rowls, and put them dryed into a fair silver dish wherein you serve the Capons; set it on the fire, and put to your bread, two Ladlefuls of Broth wherein your Capons are boyled, and a Ladleful of the Gravy of Mutton, so cover your Dish, and let it stand till you dish up your Capons; if need require, add now and then a Ladleful of Broth and Gravy, lest the bread grow dry, when you are ready to serve it, first lay in the Marrow-bone, then the Capons on each side, then fill up your dish with the Gravy of Mutton, wherein you must wring the juyce of a Lemon or two, then with a spoon take off all the fat that swimmeth on the Pottage, then garnish your Capon with the sweet-breads and some Lemons, and so serve it.

To dress Soals another way.

TAKE Soals, fry them half enough, then take Wine seasoned with Salt, grated Ginger, and a little Garlick, let the Wine and seasoning boyl in a dish, when that boyls and your Soals are half fryed, take the Soals and put them into the Wine, when they are sufficiently stewed upon their backs, lay the two.

two halves open on the one side and on the other, then lay Anchovies finely washed along, and on the sides over again, let them stew till they be ready to be eaten, then take them out, lay them on the dish, pour some of the clear Liquor which they stew in, upon them, and squeeze an Orange in.

A Carp Pye.

TAKE Carps, scald them, take out the great bones, pound the Carps in a stone Mortar, pound some of the blood with the flesh, which must be at the discretion of the Cook, because it must not be too soft, then lard it with the belly of a very fat Eel, season it, and bake it like red Deer, and eat it cold.

This is meat for a Pope.

To boyl Ducks after the French Fashion.

TAKE and lard them and put them upon a spit, and half roast them, then draw them and put them into a Pipkin, and put a quart of Claret-Wine into it, and Chestnuts, and a pint of great Oysters, taking the beards from them, and three Onions minced very small, some Mace and a little beaten Ginger, a little Thyme stripped, a crust of a French Rowl grated, put into it to thicken it.

it, and so dish it upon sops. This may be diversified, if there be strong broth there need not be so much Wine put in, and if there be no Oysters or Chesnuts, you may put in Artichocks bottoms, Turnips, Colliflowers, Bacon in thin slices, Sweet-breads, &c.

To boyl a Goose with Sausages.

TAKE your Goose and Salt it two or three days, then truss it to boyl; cut Lard as big as the top of your finger, as much as will Lard the flesh of the breast, season your Lard with Pepper, Mace, and Salt, put it a boyling in Beef broth if you have any, or water, season your Liquor with a little Sa't, and Pepper grossly beaten, an ounce or two, a Bundle of Bay-leaves, Rosemary and Thyme, tyed all together; you must have prepared your Cabbage or Sausages boyled very tender, squeeze all the water from them, then put them into a Pipkin, put to them a little strong broth or Claret-Wine, an Onion or two; season it with Pepper, Salt, and Mace to your taste; the Anchovies dissolved, put altogether, and let them stew a good while on the fire; put a handful of thick Butter, a little Vinegar, when your Goose is boyled enough, and your Cabbage on Sippets of bread, and the Goose

Goose on top of your Cabbage, and some of the Cabbage on top of your Goose, serve it up.

To fry Chickens.

TAKE five or six and scald them, and cut them in pieces, then flea the skin from them, fry them in Butter very brown, then take them out, and put them between two Dishes with the Gravy of Mutton, Butter and an Onion, six Anchoves, Nutmeg, and Salt to your taste, then put sops in your dish, put fried parsley on the top of your Chicken being dished, and so serve them.

To make a Battalia Pye.

TAKE four tame Pygeons and truss them to bake, and take four Ox-Pallates well boyled and blanched, and cut it in little pieces; take six Lamb stones and as many good Sweet-breads of Veal, cut in halves and parboyled, and twenty Cocks-combs boyled and blanched, and the bottoms of four Artichocks, and a pint of Oysters parboyled and bearded, and the Marrow of three bones, so season all with Mace, Nutmeg and Salt: so put your meat into a Cossin of fine Paste proportionable to your quantity of meat; put put half a pound of Butter upon your mear, put a little water in the Pye before it be set in the Oven, let it stand in the Oven an hour and a half, then take it out, pour out the Butter at the top of the Pye, and put it into a leer of Gravy, Butter, and Lemons, and serve it up.

To make a Chicken Pye:

TAKE four or five Chickens, cut them in pieces, take two or three Sweet-breads parboyled, and cut the Pieces as big as Walnuts; take the Udder of Veal cut in thin slices, or little slices of Bacon, the bottom of Artichoaks boyled, then make your Coffin proportionable to your Meat, season your Meat with Nutmeg, Mace and Salt, then some butter on the top of the Pye, put a little water into it, as you put it into the Oven, and let it bake an hour, then put in a leer of Butter, Gravy of Mutton, eight Lemons sliced; so serve it.

To make a Pye of a Calves Head.

TAKE a Calves Head, clean it and wash it very well; put it a boyling till it be three quarters boyled, then cut off the flesh from the bones, and cut it in pieces as big as Walnuts,

Walnuts, blanch the Tongue, and cut it in slices, take a quart of Oysters parboyled and bearded, take the yolks of twelve eggs, put some thin slices of Bacon among the Mear, and on the top of the Meat when it is in the Pye, cut an Onion small and put it in the bottom of your Pye, season it with Pepper, Nutmeg, Mace, and Salt, make your Coffin to your Meat, what fashion you please. Let it bake an hour and an half, put Butter on the bottom and on the top of your Pye before you close it, put a little water in before you put it into the Oven, when you draw it out, take off the Lid, and put away all the fat on the top, and put in a leer of thick Butter, Gravy of Mutton, a Lemon pared and sliced, with two or three Anchovies dissolved. So stew these together, and cut your lid in handsome pieces, and lay it round the Pye, so serve it.

To make Cream with Snow.

TAKE three pints of Cream, and the whites of seven or eight Eggs, and strain them together, a little Rose-water, and as much Sugar as will sweeten it, then take a stick as big as a Childs Arm, cleave one end of it across, and widen your pieces with your finger, beat your Cream with this stick,

stick, or else with a bundle of Reeds tyed together, and rowl between your hands standing upright in your Cream, now as the Snow ariseth take it up with a spoon in a Cullender, that the thin may run out, and when you have Sufficent of this Snow, take the Cream that is left and seeth it in the skillet, and put thereto whole Cloves, sticks of Cinnamon, a little Ginger bruised, and seeth it till it be thick, then strain it, and when it is cold put it into your dish, and lay your Snow upon it.

To make minced Pyes.

TAKE a large Neats Tongue, shred it very well, three pound and a half of Suet very well shred, Currans three pound, half an ounce of beaten Cloves and Mace, season it with Salt when you think it fit, half a preserved Orange, or instead of it, Orange Peels, a quarter of a pound of Sugar, a little Lemon Peel sliced very thin, put all these together very well, put to it two spoonfuls of Verjuice, and a quarter of a pint of Sack, &c.

To

To dry Neats Tongues.

TAKE Bay-Salt beaten very fine, and Salt-Peter, of each alike, and rub your Tongues very well with that, and cover all over with it; and as it wastes put on more, and when they are very hard and stiff, they are enough, then rowl them in Bran, and dry them before a soft fire, and before you boyl them, let them lye one night in Pump-water, and boyl them in the same sort of water.

To make Jelly of Harts-horn.

TAKE six ounces of Harts-horn, three ounces of Ivory, both finely Carped, boyl it in two quarts of water in a Pipkin close covered, and when it is three parts wasted, you may try it with a spoon if it will be jelly, you may know by the sticking to your Lips, then strain it through a jelly bag, season it with Rose-water, juyce of Lemons, and double refined Sugar, each according to your taste, then boyl altogether two or three Walms, so put in the glass and keep for your use.

To make Sugar-Cakes or Fumbals.

TAKE two pound of Flower, dry it and season it very fine, then take a pound of Loaf-Sugar, and beat it very fine, and searse it, mingle your Flower and Sugar very well, then take a pound and an half of sweet Butter, and wash out the Salt, and break it into bits with your Flower and Sugar, then take the yolks of four new laid Eggs, and four or five spoonfuls of Sack, and four spoonfuls of Cream, beat all these together, then put them into your Flower, and knead them to a Paste, and make them into what fashion you please, and lay them upon Paper or Plates, and put them into the Oven, and be careful of them, for a very little thing bakes them.

For Fumbals you must only add the whites of two or three Eggs.

To baste a shoulder of Mutton:

TAKE a Shoulder of Mutton and slice it very thin, till you have almost nothing but the bone, then put to the meat some Claret-Wine, a great Onyon, some Gravy of Mutton, six Anchoves, an handful of Capers, the tops of a little Thyme, mince them very well together, then take nine or ten Eggs, the juyce of one or two Lemons to make it tart, and make leer of them, then put the meat all in a Frying-Pan over the fire till it be very hot; then put in the leer of Eggs, and soak altogether over the fire till it be very thick; then boyl your bone, and put it on the top of your meat, being Dished,

Dished, Garnish your Dish with Lemons, serve it up.

To dress Flounders or Plaice with Garlick and Mustard.

TAKE Flounders very new, and cut off all the Fins and Tayls, then take out the Guts and wipe them very clean, they must not be at all washed, then with your Knife scoth them on both sides very grossly; then take the tops of Thyme, and cut them very small, and take a little Salt, Mace, and Nutmeg; and mingle the Thyme and them together, and season the Flounders, then lay them on the Grid-iron, and baste them with Oyl or Butter, let not the fire be too hot, when that side next the fire is brown, turn it, and when you turn it baste it on both sides till you have broyled them brown; when they are enough, make your sauce with Mustard two or three spoonfuls, according to discretion, six Anchoves dissolved very well, about half a pound of Butter drawn up with Garlick, Vinegar, or bruised Garlick in other Vinegar, rub the bottom of your Dish with Garlick. So put your sauce to them and serve them, you may fry them if you please.

A Turkish dish.

TAke fat Beef or Mutton cut in thin slices, wash it well, put it into a pot that hath a close cover, then put into it a good quantity of clean pickt Rice, skim it very well; then put into it a quantity of whole Pepper, two or three whole Onions, let all this boyl very well, then take out the Onion, and Dish it in Sippets, the thicker it is the better.

To dress a Pike.

CUT him in pieces, and strew upon him Salt and scalding Vinegar, boyl him in water and white-Wine, when he is boyl- ing, put in sweet-herbs, Onion, Garlick, Gin- ger, Nutmeg, and Salt; when he is boyled take him out of the Liquor, and let him drain, in the mean time beat Butter and Anchoves together, and pour it on the Fish, squeezing a little Orange and Lemon upon it.

To dress Oysters.

TAke Oysters and open them, and save the Liquor, and when you have open- ed so many as you please, add to this Liquor
some

some white-Wine, wherein you must wash your Oysters one by one very clean; and lay them in another Dish; then strain to them that mixed Wine and Liquor wherein they were washed, adding a little more Wine to them with an Onion divided, with some Salt and Pepper, so done, cover the Dish, and stew them till they be more than half done, then take them and the Liquor, and pour it into a Frying pan, wherein they must fry a pretty while, then put into them a good piece of sweet Butter, and fry them there- in so much longer; in the mean time you must have beaten the yolks of some Eggs, as four or five to a quart of Oysters; these Eggs must be beaten with some Vinegar, wherein you must put some minced Parsley and Nutmeg finely scraped, and put there- in the Oysters in the Pan, which must still be kept stirring, lest the Liquor make the Eggs curdle, let this all have a good walm on the fire, and serve it up.

To dress Flounders.

FLea off the black skin, and scour the Fish over on that side with a Knife, lay them in a dish, and pour on them some Vi- negar, and strew good store of Salt, let them lye for half an hour, in the mean time set on the fire some water with a little white-Wine, Garlick and sweet Herbs, as you please, putting into it the Vinegar and Salt wherein they lay, when it boyls put in the biggest fish, then the next till all be in; when they are boyled take them out and drain them very well, then draw some sweet Butter thick, and mince with it some Anchoves shred small, which being dissolved in the Butter, pour it on the Fish, strewing a little sliced Nutmeg, and minced Oranges and Barberries.

To dress Snails.

TAKE Snails and put them in a Kettle of water, and let them boyl a little, then take them out, and shake them out of the shells into a Bason; then take some Salt and scour them very well, and wash them in warm water until you find the slime clean gone from them; then put them into a Cullender and let them drain well, then mince some sweet herbs, and put them into a Dish with a little Pepper and Sallet-Oyl together, then let them stand an hour or two; then wash the Snails very well, and dry them, and put into every shell a Snail, and fill up the shell with Sallet-Oyl and Herbs, then set them on a Grid-Iron upon a soft fire, and so

so let them stew a little while, and dish them up warm, and serve them up.

To dress Pickle Fish.

WASH them well while they are in the shell in salt water, put them into a kettle over the fire without water; and stir them till they are open, then take them out of their shell, and wash them in hot water and salt, then take some of their own Liquor that they have made in the Kettle, a little white-Wine, Butter, Vinegar, Spice, Parsley; let all these boyl together, and when it is boyled, take the yolks of three or four Eggs and put into the Broth. Scollops may be dressed on this manner, or boyled like Oysters with Oyl, or juyce of Lemons.

To Fricate Beef Pallates.

TAKE Beef Pallates, after they be boyled very tender, blanch and pare them clean, season them with fine beaten Cloves, Nutmeg, Pepper, Salt, and some grated bread; then have some Butter in a Frying pan, put your Pallates therein, and so frycate them till they be brown on both sides, then take them forth and put on a dish, and put thereto some Gravy of Mutton wherein two or R 4 three.

three Anchovies are dissolved, grate in your sauce a little Nutmeg, wring in the juyce of a Lemon, so serve them.

A Spanish Olio. And how to make it.

TAKE a piece of Bacon not very fat, but sweet and safe from being rusty, a piece of fresh Beef, a couple of Hogs ears, and four feet, if they can be had, and if not, some quantity of Sheeps feet, (Calves Feet are not proper) a Joynt of Mutton, the Leg, Rack, or Loyn, a Hen, half a dozen Pygeons, a bundle of Parsley, Leeks and Mint, a Clove of Garlick when you will, a small quantity of Pepper, Cloves and Saffron, so mingled that not one of them over-rule, the Pepper and Cloves must be beaten as fine as possibly may be, and the Saffron must be first dryed, and then crumbled in Powder, and dissolved apart in two or three spoonfuls of Broth, but both the Spices and the Saffron may be kept apart till immediately before they be used, which must not be till within a quarter of an hour before the Olio be taken off from the fire; a pottle of hard dry Pease, when they have first steeped in water some days, a pint of boyled Chesnuts: Particular care must be had that the Pot wherein the Olio is made, be very sweet: Earthen I think is

is the best, and judgment is to be had carefully both in the size of the Pot, and in the quantity of the water at the first, that so the broth may grow afterwards to be neither too much nor too little, nor too gross nor too thin; the meat must be long in boiling, but the fire not too fierce, the Bacon, the Beef, the Pease, the Chesnuts, the Hogs Ears may be put in at first. I am utterly against those confused Olio's, into which men put almost all kinds of meats and roots, and especially against putting of Oyl, for it corrupts the broth, instead of adding goodness to it. To do well, the Broth is rather to be drank out of a Porringer, than to be eaten with a spoon, though you add some small slices of bread to it, you will like it the worse. The sauce for the meat must be as much fine Sugar beaten small to powder, with a little Mustard, as can be made to drink the Sugar up, and you will find it to be excellent; but if you make it not faithfully, and just according to this Prescript, but shall either put Mace or Rosemary, or Thyme, to the Herbs, as the manner is of some, it will prove very much the worse.

To make Methbeglin.

TAKE all sorts of Herbs that are good and wholsom, as Balm, Mint, Fennel, Rosemary, Angelica, wild Thyme, Hyssop, Burnet, Agrimony, and such other as you think fit; some field herbs; but you must not put in too many, but especially Rosemary or any strong herbs, less than half a handful will serve of every sort, you must boyl your Herbs and strain them, and let the Liquor stand till to morrow, and settle them, take of the clearest Liquor two gallons and a half to one gallon of Honey, and that proportion as much as you will make, and let it boyl an hour, and in the boyling skim it very clean, then set it a cooling as you do Beer, when it is cold, take some very good Ale Barm and put into the bottom of the tub a little and a little, as they do Beer, keeping back the thick settling that lieth in the bottom of the Vessel, that it is cooled in, and when it is all put together, cover it with a cloath, and let it work very near three days, and when you mean to put it up, skim off the Barm clean, put it up into the Vessel, but you must not stop your Vessel very close in three or four days, but let it have all the vent, for it will work, and when it is close stopped, stopped, you must look very often to it, and have a peg in the top to give it vent when you hear it make a noise, as it will do, or else it will break the Vessel; sometimes I make a bag, and put in good store of Ginger sliced, some Cloves and Cinnamon, and boyl it in, and other times I put it into the Barrel, and never boyl it, it is both good, but Nutmeg and Mace do not well to my taste.

To make a Sallet of Smelts.

TAKE half an hundred of Smelts, the biggest you can get, draw them and cut off their heads, put them into a Pipkin with a pint of white-Wine, and a pint of white-Wine-Vinegar, an Onion shred, a couple of Lemons, a Race of Ginger, three or four blades of Mace, a Nutmeg sliced, whole Pepper, a little Salt, cover them, and let them stand twenty four hours; if you will keep them three or four days, let not your Pickle be two strong of the Vinegar, when you will serve them, take them out one by one, scrape and open them as you do Anchovies, but throw away the bones, lay them close one by one round a Silver dish, you must have the very utmost rind of a Lemon or Orange so small as grated bread, and the Parsley, then mix your Lemon peel, Orange range and Parsley together with a little fine beaten Pepper, and strew this upon the dish of Smelts, with the meat of a Lemon minced very small, also then pour on excellent Sallad-Oyl, and wring in the juyce of two Lemons, but be sure none of the Lemon-seed be left in the Sallad, so serve it.

To roast a Phillet of Beef.

TAKE a Phillet of Beef, which is the tenderest part of the Beast, and lyeth only in the inner part of the Surloyn next to the Chine, cut it as big as you can, then broach it on a Broach not too big, and be careful you broach it not thorow the best of the meat, roast it leisurely, and baste it with sweet Butter: set a dish under it to save the Gravy; while the Beef is roasting, prepare the Sauce for it; chop good store of Parsley, with a few sweet herbs shread small, and the yolks of three or four Eggs, and mince among them the Peel of an Orange, and a little Onion, then boyl this mixture, putting into it sweet Butter, Vinegar and Gravy, a spoonful of strong broth, when it is well boyled, put into it your Beef, and serve it very warm, sometimes a little gross Pepper or Ginger into your Sauce, or a Peel of an Orange or Lemon:

To

To make a Sallet of a cold Hen or Capon.

TAKE the breast of an Hen or Capon, and slice it as thin as you can in steaks, put therein Vinegar and a little Sugar, as you think fit; then take six Anchoves, and a handful of Capers, a little Long grass or a Carrigon, and mince them together, but not too small, strew it on the Sallet, garnish them with Lemons, Oranges or Barberries so serve it up with a little Salt.

To stew Mushrooms.

TAKE them fresh gathered, and cut off the hard end of the stalk, and as you peel them throw them into a dish of white-Wine, after they have lain half an hour or thereabout, drain them from the Wine, and put them between two Silver Dishes, then set them on a soft fire, without any liquor, and when they have stewed a while, pour away the liquor that comes from them, which will be very black, then put your Mushrooms into another clean Dish with a sprig or two of Thyme, an Onion whole, four or five corns of whole Pepper, two or three Cloves, a bit of an Orange, a little Salt, a bit of sweet Butter, and some pure Gravy

Gravy of Mutton, cover them, and set them on a gentle fire, so let them stew softly till they be enough, and very tender, when you dish them, blow off all the fat from them, and take out the Thyme, Spice and Orange, then wring in the juyce of a Lemon, and grate a little Nutmeg among the Mushrooms, toss them two or three times, put them in a clean dish, and serve them hot to the Table.

The Lord Conway, his Lordship's Receipt for the making of Amber Puddings.

First take the Guts of a young Hog, and wash them very clean, and then take two pound of the best Hogs fat, and a pound and a half of the best Jordan Almonds, the which being blanched, take one half of them and beat them very small, and the other half reserve whole unbeaten, then take a pound and a half of fine Sugar, and four white loaves, and grate the Loaves over the former Composition, and mingle them well together in a Basin, having so done, put to it half an ounce of Ambergreese, the which must be scraped very small over the said composition, take half a quarter of an ounce of Levant Musk, and bruise it in a Marble Mortar, with a quarter of a pint of Orange-flower-flower-water, then mingle these all very well together, and having so done, fill the said Guts therewith. This Receipt was given his Lordship by an Italian for a great Rarity, and has been found so to be by those Ladies of Honour, to whom his Lordship has imparted the said Receipt.

To make a Partridge Tart.

Take the flesh of four or five Partridges minced very small, with the same weight of Beef-Marrow as you have Partridge flesh, with two ounces of Orangadoes and green Citron minced together as small as your meat, season it with Cloves and Mace and Nutmeg, and a little Salt and Sugar, mix all together, and bake it in Puff Paste; when it is baked open it, and put in half a Grain of Musk, or Amber brayed in a Mortar or Dish, and with a spoonful of Rose-water, and the juyce of three or four Oranges, when you put all these therein, stir the meat and cover it again, and serve it to the Table.

To keep Venison all the year.

Take the Haunch and parboyl it a while, then season it with two Nutmegs, a spoonful of Pepper, and a good quantity city of Salt, mingle them all together; then put two spoonfuls of white-Wine-Vinegar, and having made the Venison full of holes, as you do when you Lard it, when it is Larded, put in the Venison at the holes the Spice and Vinegar, and season it therewith, then put part into the Pot with the fat side downwards, cover it with two pound of Butter, then close it up close with course Paste, when you take it out of the Oven take away the Paste, and lay a round Trencher with a weight on the top of it to keep it down, till it be cold, then take of the Trencher, and lay the Butter flat upon the Venison, then cover it close with strong white Pepper, if your Pot be narrow at the bottom it is better, for it must be turned upon a plate and stuck with Bay leaves, when you please to eat it.

To bake Brawn.

TAKE two Buttocks and hang them up two or three days, then take them down and dip them into hot water, and pluck off the skin, dry them very well with a clean Cloth, when you have so done, take Lard, cut it in pieces as big as your little finger, and season it very well with Pepper, Cloves, Mace, Nutmeg, and and Salt, put each of them into an earthen Pot, put in a pint of Claret-Wine, a pound of Mutton Suet. So close it with Paste, let the Oven be well heated, and so bake them, you must give them time for the baking according to the bigness of the Haunches and the thickness of the Pots, they commonly allot seven hours for the baking of them; let them stand three days, then take off their Covers, and pour away all the liquor, then have clarified Butter, and fill up both the pots to keep it for the use, it will very well keep two or three Months.

To roast a Pike.

TAKE a Pike, scour off the slime, take out the intrails, Lard it with the backs of Pickled Herrings, you must have a sharp Bodkin to make the holes, no larding-pins will go through, then take some great Oysters, Claret-Wine, season it with Pepper, Salt and Nutmeg, stuff the belly of the Pike with these Oysters, intermix with them Rosemary, Thyme, Wintersavory, sweet Marjoram, a little Onion and Garlick, sew these in the belly of the Pike, prepare two sticks about the breadth of a Lath, these two sticks and the Spit must be as broad as the Pike being tied on the Spit, tye the Pike

Pike on, winding Pack-thread about the Pike along, but there must be tyed by the Pack-thread all along the side of the Pike which is not defended by the Spit, and the Lathes, Rosemary and Bayes, bathe the Pike with Butter and Claret Wine, with some Anchoves dissolved in it, when it is walled, rip up the belly of the Pike and the Oysters will be the same, but the herbs which are whole must be taken out.

To sauce Eels.

TAKE two or three great Eels, rub them in Salt, draw out the Guts, wash them very clean, cut them athwart on both sides a sound depth, and cut them again crossway, then cut them thorow in such pieces as you think fit, and put them into a dish with a pint of Wine-Vinegar, and an handful of Salt, have a Kettle over the fire with fair water, and a bundle of sweet-herbs, two or three great Onions, some Mace, a few Cloves, you must let these ly in Wine-Vinegar and Salt, and put them into boyling Liquor, there let them boyl according to Cookery, when enough, take out the Eels, and drain them from the Liquor, when they are cold take a pint of white-Wine, boyl it up with Saffron from to colour the Wine, then take out some of the liquor, or put it in an earthen pan, take out the Onions and all the herbs, only let the Cloves and Mace remain, you must beat the Saffron to powder, or else it will not colour.

To make Sausages without skins.

TAKE a Leg of young Pork, two pound of Beef-suet, two handfuls of Sage, two loaves of white Bread, Salt and Pepper to your taste, half the Pork and half the Suet must be very well beaten in a stone Mortar the rest cut very small, be sure to cut out all Gristles and Lenets in the Pork, when you have mixed these all together, knead them into a stiff paste with the yolks of two or three Eggs, so rowl them into Sausages.

To dress a Pike.

TAKE a Male Pike, rub his skin off whilst he lives with Bay Salt; having well cleared the out side, lay him in a large Dish or tray, open him so as you break not his gall, cut him according to the size of the fish in two or three pieces, from the head to the tail must be slit, this done, they are to be laid as flat as you can in a great Dish or Tray, pour pour upon it half a pint of white-Wine-Vinegar, more or less, according to the size of the fish, then strew upon the inside of the fish white Salt plentifully, Bay Salt beaten very small is better, whilst this is a doing, let a skillet with a sufficient quantity of Rhennish Wine, or good white-Wine, be put over the fire, with the Wine, Salt, Ginger, Nutmeg, an Onion, four or five Cloves of Garlick, a bunch of sweet herbs, viz. Sweet-Marjoram, Rosemary, Peel of half a Lemon, let these boyl to the height, put in the Pike with the Vinegar, in such manner as not to quench or allay, if Possible, the heat of the Liquor, put the thickest piece first, that will ask most boyling, and the Vinegar last of all; while the Pike boyls take half a pound of Anchoves, one quarter of very good Butter, a Saucer of the Liquor your Pike was boyled in, dissolve the Anchoves. Note that the Liquor, Sauce, the Spice and the other ingredients must follow the proportion of the Pike; if your Sauce be too strong of the Anchoves add more fair water to it. Note also, the Liquor wherein this Pike was dressed, is better to boyl a second Pike therein, than it was at the first.

To dress Eels.

CUT two or three Eels into pieces of a convenient length, set them end-ways in a pot of earth, put in a spoonful or two of water, and to them put some Herbs and Sage chopt small, some Garlick, Pepper and Salt, so let them be baked in an Oven.

The Countess of Rutlands Receipt for making the rare Banbury Cake, which was so much praised at her Daughter's (the Right Honourable the Lady Chaworth's) Wedding.

Imprimis,

TAKE a peck of fine flower, and half an ounce of large Mace, half an ounce of Nutmegs, and half an ounce of Cinnamon, your Cinnamon and Nutmegs must be sifted through a Searse, two pounds of Butter, half a score of Eggs, put out four of the whites of them, something above a pint of good Ale-yeast, beat your Eggs very well, and strain them with your Yeast, and a little warm water into your flower, and stir them together, then put your Butter cold in little Lumps: The water you knead withall must be scalding hot, if you will make it good Paste, the which having done, lay the Paste to rise in a warm Cloth, a quarter of an hour or thereupon; then put in ten pounds of Currans, and a little Musk and Ambergreece dissolved in Rosewater, your Currans must be made very dry, or else they will make your Cake heavy, strew as much Sugar finely beaten amongst the Currans as you shall think think the water hath taken away the sweetness from them; break your Paste into little pieces, into a Kimmel, or such like thing, and lay a Layer of Paste broken into little pieces, and a Layer of Currans, until your Currans are all put in, mingle the Paste and the Currans very well, but take heed of breaking the Currans, you must take out a piece of Paste after it hath risen in a warm Cloth, before you put in the Currans, to cover the top, and the bottom, you must rowl the Cover something thin, and the bottom likewise, and wet it with Rose-water, and close them at the bottom of the side, or the middle, which you like best, prick the top and the sides with a small long pin; when your Cake is ready to go into the Oven, cut it in the midst of the sight round about with a Knife, an inch deep, if your Cake be of a peck of Meal, it must stand two hours in the Oven, your Oven must be as hot as for Manchet.

An excellent Syllabub.

FILL your Syllabub-pot with Syder (for that is the best for a Syllabub) and good store of Sugar and a little Nutmeg; stir it well together, put in as much thick cream, by two or three spoonfuls at a time, as hard as you can, as though you milk it in, then stir it together exceeding softly once about, and let it stand two hours at least e're it is eaten, for the standing makes the Curd.
S you

To Souce a Pig.

TAKE a fair large Pig, and cut off his head, then slit him through the midst, then take out his bones, then lay him in warm water one night, then Coller him up like Brawn, then boyl him tender in fair water, and when he is boyled put him in an earthen pot or pan, in water and Salt, for that will make him white, and season the flesh, for you must not put Salt in the boyling, for that will make it black, then take a quart of the same broth, and a quart of white-Wine, boyl them together to make some drink for it, put into it two or three Bay-leaves, when it is cold unclorhe the Pig, and put it into the same drink, and it will continue a quarter of a year. It is a necessary Dish in any Gentlemans house; when you serve it in, serve it with green Fennel, as you do Sturgeon with Vinegar in Sauces.

S 3 with

with Parsly, then put it into the pot with the fat side downward, then clarifie three pound of Butter, and put it thereon, and paste upon the Pot, and let it stand in the Oven five or six hours, then take it out, and with a vent, press it down to the bottom of the pot, and let it stand till it be cold, then take the Gravy off the top of the Pot and melt it, and boyl it half away and more, then put it in again with the Butter on the top of the Pot.

To make a Marchpane: to Ice him, &c.

TAKE two pound of Almonds blanch'd, and beaten in a stone Mortar till they begin to come to a fine paste, and take a pound of sifted Sugar, and put it in the Mortar with the Almonds, and so leave it till it come to a perfect Paste, putting in now and then a spoonful of Rosewater to keep them from Oyling: when you have beaten them to a perfect Paste, cover the Marchpane in a sheet, as big as a Charger, and set an edge about, as you do about a Tart, and a bottom of Wafers under him; thus bake it in an Oven or baking pan, when you see your Marchpane is hard and dry, take it out and Ice it with Rose-water and Sugar, being made as thick as Batter for Fritters; so spread

spread it on with a wing-feather, so put it into the Oven again; and when you see it rise high, then take it out and garnish it with some pretty conceits, made of part of the same stuff, stick long Comfits upright in him, so serve him.

To make Jelly the best way.

TAKE a Leg of Veal and pare away the fat as clean as you can, wash it thoroughly, let it lye soaking a quarter of an hour or more, provided you first break the bones, then take four Calves feet, scald off the hair in boiling water, then slit them in two, and put them to your Veal, let them boyl over the fire in a brass pot, with two gallons of water or more, according to the proportion of your Veal, scum it very clean and often, so let it boyl till it come to three pints or a little more, then strain it through a clean strainer into a Basin, and so let it stand till it be through cold and well jellied, then cut it in pieces with a Knife, and pare the top and the bottom of them, put it into a skillet, take two ounces of Cinnamon broken very small with your hand, three Nutmegs sliced, one Race of Ginger, a large Mace or two, a little quantity of Salt, one spoonful of Wine-Vinegar, or
S 4 Rose-

Rose Vinegar, one pound and three quarters of Sugar, a pint of Rhenish Wine, white-Wine, and the whites of fifteen Eggs well beaten; put all these to the Jelly, then set it on the fire, and let it seeth two or three walms, ever stirring it as it seeths, then take a very clean Jelly bag, wash the bottom of it in a little Rose-water, and wring it so hard that there remain none behind, put a branch of Rosemary in the bottom of the bag, hang it up before the fire over a Bason, and pour the Jelly-bag into the Bason, provided in any case you stir not the bag, then take Jelly in the Bason and put it into your bag again, let it run the second time, and it will be very much the clearer; so you may put it into your Gallipots or Glasses, which you please, and set them a cooling on Bay-Salt, and when it is cold and stiff, you may use it at your pleasure; if you will have the Jelly of a red colour, use it as before, only instead of Rhenish Wine use Clarret.

To make Poor Knights.

CUT two penny loaves in round slices, dip them in half a pint of Cream, or fair water, then lay them abroad in a Dish, and beat three Eggs and grated Nutmegs and

and Sugar, beat them with Cream, then melt some Butter in a frying-pan, and wet the sides of the Tosts, and lay them in on the wet side, then pour in the rest upon them, and so fry them, serve them in with Rose-water, Sugar and Butter.

To make Shrewsbury Cakes.

TAKE two pound of Flower dried in the Oven, and weighed after it is dried, then put to it one pound of Butter that must be laid an hour or two in Rose-water, so done, pour the water from the Butter, and put the Butter to the Flower with the yolks and whites of five Eggs, two races of Ginger, and three quarters of a pound of Sugar, a little Salt, grate your Spice, and it will be the better, knead all these together till you may rowl the Paste, then rowl it forth with the top of a Bowl, then prick them with a pin made of Wood, or if you have a Comb that hath not been used, that will do them quickly, and is the best to that purpose, so bake them upon Pye plates, but not too much in the Oven, for the heat of the Plates will dry them very much, after they come out of the Oven you may cut them without the bowls of what bigness, or what fashion you please.

To make Beef like red Deer to be eaten cold.

TAKE a Buttock of Beef, cut it the long ways with the grain, beat it well with a Rowling-pin, then broil it upon the coals, a little after it is cold draw it through with Lard, then lay in some white-wine-Vinegar, Pepper, Salt, Cloves, Mace and Bay-leaves, the let it lie three or four days, then bake it in Rye-paste, and when it is cold fill it up with Butter, after a fortnight it will be fit to eat.

To make Puffs.

TAKE a pint of Cheese-curds and drain them dry, bruise them small with the hand, put in two handfuls of flower, a little Sugar, three or four yolks of Eggs, a little Nutmeg and Salt, mingle these together, and make them little, like eyes, fry them in fresh butter, serve them up with fresh Butter and Sugar.

To make a bask of Chickens.

TAKE six Chickens, quarter them, cover them almost with water, and season them with Pepper and Salt, and a good handful handful of minced Parsley, and a little white-Wine, when they are boyled enough, put six Eggs, only the yolks, put to them a little Nutmeg and Vinegar, give them a little walm or two with the Chickens, pour them together into a dish, and serve them in when you put on the Eggs and a good piece of Butter.

To make an Almond Caudle.

TAKE three Pints of Ale, boyl it with Cloves, Mace, and sliced bread in it, then have ready beaten a pound of blanched Almonds stamped in a Mortar, with a little white-Wine, then strain them out with a pint of white-Wine, thicken your Ale with it, sweeten it as you please, and be sure you skim the Ale when it boyls.

To make scalding Cheese toward the latter end of May.

TAKE your Evening Milk and put it into boulds or earthen pans, then in the Morning fleet off the Cream in a bould by it self, put the fleet Milk into a Tub with the Morning Milk, then put in the nights Cream, and stir it together, and heat the Milk, and put in the Rennet; as for ordinary new Milk
Cheese,

Cheese, it is to be made thick: when the Cheese is come, gather the Curd into the Cheese-cloth, and set the Whey on the fire till it be seething hot: put the Cheese in a Cloth into a Keiler that hath a waste in the bottom, and pour in the hot Whey, then let out that and put in more till your Curd feel hard, then break the Curd with your hands as small as you can, and put a handful of Salt to it, then put it in the Fat, turn it at noon and night, and the next day put it into a Trough where Cheese is salted every day, and turn it as long as any will enter, then lay it on a Table or Shelf all Summer; if you will have it mellow to eat within a year, it must be laid in Hay in the Spring; if to keep two years, let it dry on a Shelf out of the wind all the next Summer, and in Winter lay them in Hay a while, or lay them close one to another; I seldom lay any in Hay, I turn and rub them with a rotten cloth, especially when they are old, once a week lest they rot.

To Pickle Purslane.

TAKE Purslane, stalks and all, boyl them tender in fair water, then lay them drying upon Linnen cloths, then being dried, put them into the Gally-pots, and cover, ver them with Wine-Vinegar mixed with Salt, and not make the pickle so strong as for Cucumbers.

Receipts added.

The best and easiest ways now in use for dressing Fresh-water-fish; Collected from the ablest Cooks.

The best way of dressing a Trout.

WASH the Trout, and dry him with a clean Napkin, then open him, and having taken out his Guts, and all the Blood, wipe him very clean within, but wash him not, and give him three Scotches with a Knife to the bone, on one side only. After which take a clean kettle, and put in as much hard stale Beer (but it must not be flat or dead.) Vinegar and a little white-Wine and water, as will cover the Fish you intend to boyl, then throw into the liquor a good quantity of Salt, the rind of a Lemon, a handful ful of sliced Horseradishroot, with a handsome little faggot of Parsley, Rosemary, Thyme, and Winter-savory. Then set your kettle upon a quick fire of Wood, and let your liquor boyl up to the height, before you put in your Fish; and then put them in one by one, that they may not so cool the liquor, as to make it fall; and whilst your Fish is boyling, beat up the Butter for the Sauce with a little of the liquor, and being boyled enough, immediately pour the liquor from the Fish, and being laid in a Dish, pour your Butter upon it, and strewing it plentifully over with shaved Horseradish, and a little poudred Ginger; garnish the sides of the Dish, and the Fish it self with a sliced Lemon, and serve it up. In the same manner you may dress Grayling, Carp, Bream, Roche, Pike, Pearch, and Salmon; only they are to be Scaled, which a Trout never is, and that must be done very lightly and carefully, with a Knife; also a Pike may be thus drest, the slime being first well scoured off with water and Salt. So likewise may a Pearch be drest, but before you pour on the Sauce, blanch off the Peaches skin.

To

To dress Trouts the common way.

First with a Knife gently scrape all the slime off them, then wash them in Salt and Water, then Gut them, and wipe them very clean with a Linnen Cloth, then flower them with wheat flower, and fry them very well in sweet Butter, until they be brown and crisp, then take them out of the Frying-pan, and lay them on a Pewter Dish very well heated before the fire; then pour off the Butter the Trouts were fryed in, into the Grease-pot, and not on the Fish; then fry good store of Parsley, and young Sage in other sweet Butter, until they be crisp, then take out the Herbs, and lay them on the Fish; then beat up some other sweet Butter, with three or four spoonfuls of boyling hot Spring-water (an Anchovie being first therein dissolved, if you can easily have them) and pour it on the Fish, and serve it up, garnishing your Dish with Strawberries, Parsley, or other green Leaves.

This is the way to fry Grayling, Peaches, small Pikes, or Jacks, Roche, and Gudgeons, their Scales being first scraped off. And you may thus fry small Eels, after they are flead, gutted, wiped clean, and and cut into pieces of four or five Inches long. You may also fry this way Pearches, and small Pikes, &c.

You may also this way fry pieces of Salmon, or a Chine of Salmon.

To stew Salmon or other Fish.

DRaw the Salmon, Scotch the back, put it whole or in pieces into a stewpan, and put some Beer Vinegar to it, white-Wine and Water, as much as will cover it; put also to it some whole Cloves, large Mace, sliced Ginger, a Bay-leaf, a bundle of the tops of Rosemary, Thyme, sweet Marjoram, Winter savory, and pickt Parsley, some whole Pepper, Salt, Butter, and an Orange cut in halves, stew all leisurely together, and when enough dish them with carved sippets, lay on the Spices, and sliced Lemon, run it over with Butter, beaten with some of the liquor it was stewed in, garnish the Dish with searfed Manchet, &c. Thus you may stew any other Fish, as Carp, Pike, Bream, &c.

How to dress a Chub.

First scale him, and then wash him clean, and take out his Guts, and to that end end make the hole little, and as near to his Gills as you can, and make clean his throat; then put some sweet Herbs into his Belly, and then tye him with two or three splinters to the Spit, and roast him, basted often with Vinegar, or Verjuice and Butter, with good store of Salt mixt with it. This way dries up the fluid watery humor with which all Chubs do abound. A Tench may be thus drest likewise.

Another way to dress a Chub.

When you have scalded the Chub, and cut off his Tail and Fins, and washed him clean, then slit him through the middle, then give him three or four cuts or scotches on the back with your Knife; and broyl him on wood coals; and all the time he is broyling, baste him with sweet Butter and good store of Salt mixt with it; and a little Thyme shred very small. Drest in this manner, the watery taste is taken away; for which many except against him. Note; that no Fish should be washed after they are Gutted.

Another way to dress a Chub.

SET a Kettle over the fire with some Beer Vinegar and water, so much as will cover the Fish, and therein put Fennel, and good store of Salt, and when the water boyls put in the Chub, being first Scalded, Gutted, and Throat made clean, and when boyled enough take him out, and lay him on a board to let him drain, and after an hours lying thus, pick all the fish from the bones, and lay it on a Pewter Dish, which set on a Chafindish of Coals, and put good store of Butter to it, which when the Fish is very well hot, serve it up, and eat it as minced Veal.

The best way to boyl or stew a Carp.

TAKE a Carp (alive if possible) scour him, and rub him clean with water and Salt, but Scale him not, then open him, and put him with his Blood and his Liver (which you must save when you open him) into a Pot or Kettle, then take sweet Marjoram, Thyme and Parsley, of each half a handful, a sprig of Rosemary and of Winterfavory; tye them up into two or three small bundles, and put them to your Carp, with four or five whole Onions, twenty pickled Oysters, and three Anchovies; then pour upon your Carp as much Claret Wine as will cover him; season it well with Pepper and Salt, Cloves, bruised Mace, sliced Nutmeg, and the rinds of Oranges and Lemons, then cover the pot, and set it on a quick fire till it be sufficiently boyled, then take out the Carp, and lay it with the broth in a Dish, and pour upon it a quarter of a pound of good fresh Butter, melted and beaten with half a dozen spoonfulls of the broth, the yolks of three or four Eggs, and some of the Herbs shred, or a little fresh Parsley shred very small; garnish the Dish with Lemons, and so serve it up. If you will not be at the charge of the Wine, you may put Syder, and for want of that, Wine and water and good Beer Vinegar, and water will serve very well instead of the Claret, you may also omit the pickled Oysters and Anchovies, and it will, notwithstanding such omissions, eat very well.

In the same manner you may dress other Fish, only you must for others omit the blood and liver: As Pike, Bream, Trout, Pearch, Grayling, &c. those that have scales being scaled, and put them into the liquor before it boyls.

The common way of boyling Fish, is, to draw, scale, and wipe them clean, and then to set a Kettle over the fire with water and Beer Vinegar, so much as will cover the Fish, with good store of Salt and sweet Fennel, and when the liquor boyls up, put in the Fish, and when boyled enough, lay the Fish upon a Cullender to drain the water off, then lay them on a hot Pewter Dish, and serve them up with beaten Butter, and some shred Parsley boyled by it self.

To fry Eels.

First flea him, gut him, and wash him clean, then cut him into lengths of three or four Inches a piece, then set a skillet with water over the fire, and let it boyl, putting in it good store of Salt and some Fennel or Rosemary; when it boyls, put in the pieces of Eel, and let them therein be almost half boyled, then take them out, putting them into a Cullender, then flower and fry them as you are instructed to fry a Trout.

The

The best way of dressing a large Eel.

First wash him in water and Salt, then flea off his skin below his Ven or Navel, and not much farther; then take out his Guts, as clean as you can, but wash him not, but wipe him clean with a Linnen Cloth, and then give him three or four scotches with a Knife, then take sweet Marjoram, Winterfavory, stripped Thyme, and picked Parsley, an Anchovie, shred them all very small, and put them into his belly, and those scotches, mixing with them Butter and Salt; then pull his skin over him again, except the head which must be cut off, then tye the skin with a pack-thred to keep in all his moisture; then tye him to a Spit, and roast him leasurely, and baste him with Salt and Water, till his skin breaks, and then with Butter; and when roasted enough, mix what was in his belly with beaten Butter for the sauce. If you omit the Anchovie, yet the Eel will eat very well.

To roast other smaller Eels.

Flea, Gut, and wipe them clean, and cut them in pieces four or five Inches long, long, put them on a small Spit cross-ways, and between each piece put some large Sage-leaves, or Bay-leaves; then roast and baste them, and when enough, serve them up with Butter beaten up in three or four spoonfuls of boyling water, and the yolk of an Egg or two, if you like it.

Spitch-Cock, or broyled Eels.

TAKE a large Eel, split it down the back, and joynt-bone, being drawn, and the blood washed out, leave on the skin, and cut it in four pieces equally, Salt them, and baste them with Butter; broyl them on a soft fire, and being finely broyled, serve them on a clean Dish with beaten Butter.

Stewed Eels.

FLEA, draw, and wipe them clean, and cut them in pieces, three or four Inches long; put them into a Posnet or Skillet with fair water, a little white-Wine, Verjuise or Beer Vinegar, as much as will well cover them, put in some Butter, large Mace, Pepper, Currans, Salt, two or three Onions, and a bundle of sweet Herbs; stew all these together leasurely, till the Fish be very very tender, then beat some Butter with the broth, and having dished the Eels, pour it on them with Sippets.

In the like manner you may stew them in an Oven in an earthen pot or pan, setting the pieces on the end in the pot.

To Coller Eels.

TAKE large Eels, draw and wipe them clean, then part them down the back bone, then take Thyme, Parsley, sweet Marjoram, and a little of the tops of Rosemary, mince them small, and mingle them with Nutmeg, Ginger, Pepper, and Salt; then strew them on the inside of the Eels, then rowl them up like a Collar of Brawn, and put them in a clean linnen Cloth tied at both ends, and boyl them tender with Beer-Vinegar, Water and Salt, but let the Liquor boyl before you put in the Eels; when boyled enough take them out of the liquor, and let them and the liquor be cold, then put them in again, and you may keep them therein three or four days or more, and you may serve it either in Collars, or in round Slices with Sawcers of Vinegar.

Note, that whensoever you do Butter for Fishes Sawce, let it be very well beaten up with three or four spoonfuls of boyling
ing

ing Spring-water, and if you desire it to be thick, beat the yolk of an Egg therewith, and if you desire the sauce to be better relished than ordinary, put an Anchovie in the water, and let it dissolve before you beat up the Butter, or boyl Parsley by it self and shred it, and beat it up with the Butter and Water, and it's a good Sauce.

To make a very good Oatmeal-Pudding.

TAKE a pint of Milk, and put into it a pint of middling Oatmeal; let it stand upon the fire until it be scalding hot, then let it stand by, and soak about half an hour; then pick a few sweet herbs and shred them, and put in half a pound of Currans, and half a pound of Suet, and about two spoonfuls of Sugar, and three or four Eggs. These put into a bag and boyled do make an Excellent Pudding.

To make a very good baked Oatmeal Pudding.

TAKE a quart of Cream, and make it scalding hot, then put into it half a pint of middling Oatmeal; let it stand all night close covered, then take a good handful

ful of Penny-royal, shred it very small, with a pound of Beef-suet, and half a pound of Raisins of the Sun, some Sugar and Spice, four or five Eggs, two whites away. So bake it three quarters of an hour.

The best way of boyling Spinage to preserve all its juyce and substance.

A Lady of great Quality boyled Spinage thus: The Spinage being washed and drained, put it into a Pipkin, and cover it close. Set this Pipkin into a Kettle of water, and boyl it; the Pot or Pipkin must not stand so deep in the water that any water may get into it; neither must you put any water with the Spinage, but dry by it self, and the water boyling in the Kettle will make the Spinage soft and tender, for it stews in its own juyce; and you shall preserve its green juyce and substance, which you lose when you boyl it in water.

I think the best way of boyling it would be in a Tin Box, with a cover that shutteth just so that no water can get into it, then put this Box stuffed as full as you can into a Kettle, or into the Pot wherein you boyl your Beef, like a Pudding-Bag.
T

I think green Pease might be boyled in the same manner.

The best way to beat up Butter for Spinage, green Pease, or for Sauce for Fish.

TAKE two or three spoonfuls of fair water, put it into a Pipkin or Saucepan; there must be no more than even to cover the bottom of the Pipkin; make this boyl by it self, as soon as it doth so, put into it half a pound of Butter, and when it is melted take it from the fire, and holding the handle in your hand shake it round a good while, and strongly, and it will come to be thick, that you may almost cut it with a Knife. Then squeeze juyce of Lemon into it, or Orange, or Verjuyce, or Vinegar, and heat it again as much as you please upon the fire. It will ever after continue thick, and never again upon any heating grow Oyly, tho' it be cold and heated again twenty times, if you boyl Pease or Spinage the ordinary way, or Fish, you may take some of their Liquor.

Put of this Butter to boyled Pease in their Dish, which cover with another, so shake them very strongly, and a good while together. This is by much the best way to Butter

Butter Pease, and not let the Butter melt in the middle of them, for that will grow Oyly if you heat them again: The other never; and therefore it is the best way upon all occasions to make such thickned melted Butter.

To boyl a Gammon of Bacon, or any Salted flesh, and banged in the Smoak, as Neats Tongues, and Hogs Cheeks, &c.

PUt into the Kettle of water to boyl with them, three or four handfuls of Hay Flower, or Hay only, if you cannot get the Flower; tie it up loosely in a bag of coarse Cloth. This maketh it much Tenderer, Shorter, and Mellowed, and of a finer Colour.
